POLE TO LEAVE CURRENCY POST DUE TO STRAIN

Comptroller Asks Hoover to Relieve Him Soon as Possible.

EXHAUSTED BY WORK DURING BANK CRISIS

President Reluctant to Lose Valued Financial Aid in Drive on Slump.

(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

John William Pole, Comptroller of the Currency for the last four years, has asked President Hoover to relieve him of his duties as soon as it is conveniently possible, the United Press learned last night.

The tall and distinguished financier has been under severe strain during the banking crisis. He has kept in daily communication by telephone with the large financial districts throughout the Nation.

Pole, the United Press learned, has been desirous of retiring for many months.

Hoover Reluctant.

President Hoover, however, considers him one of his ablest financial advisers and is known to be reluctant to lose his services at a time when Government agencies and business leaders are staging a new attack on the depression.

As Comptroller of the Currency Pole has active supervision over the entire national bank system. His handling of the difficult banking situation brought commendation from the leading financial authorities of the country.

Born in Kings Lynn, England, Pole served as engineer of the City of Mansfield, England, and came to the United States in 1893. He engaged in the exporting business and later became a banker in Decatur, Ala.

Appointed by Coolidge.

Appointed banking examiner of the Fifth Federal Reserve district in 1915, Pole's service attracted the attention of high officials here and eight years later he was made chief national bank examiner. Te was appointed Comptroller of the Currency by President Coolidge in November, 1928.

Always immaculately dressed, solemn and kindly, Pole still speaks with a trace of the English accent. He is apparently in good health but the long hours he has been forced to keep as a result of the banking problem, have affected him.

Pole is considered moderately wealthy. It could not be learned last night what he planned to do after leaving his present post.

Board Will Scrap 124 War-Time Ships

Destruction of Big Fleet Designed to Improve Ocean Rates.

(Associated Press.)

In an effort to improve ocean freight rates from the carriers' standpoint and stabilize the value of private vessels, the Shipping Board plans to scrap 124 of its war-time vessels. Withdrawal of the ships from registry was ordered yesterday by the board upon recommendation of the Merchant Fleet Corporation and they will be sold for scrap as soon as practicable.

How the ships will be disposed of—whether individually or by groups—will be decided at an early date. The ships are located at various ports of the United States. Their names and locations will be announced later.

"It is believed," the board said in a statement, "that the removal of these vessels from the market for other than scrap will have a beneficial effect on present freight rates and tend to stabilize the value of privately owned American vessels."

Owner and Wife Bound; $10,000 Gems Stolen

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Four robbers entered the jewlry store of Jerome Roller in Brooklyn today, bound and gagged Roller and his wife, Sadie, and escaped with gems valued by the Rollers at $10,000.

The Rollers had just opened their store for the day when the robbers entered. Several years ago the Rollers had been robbed and Mrs. Roller was severely beaten when she resisted. Today the robbers' orders were obeyed. The robbers handcuffed the Rollers, bound their feet and gagged them. Some time later Mrs. Roller succeeded in crawling across the floor and tripping a burglar alarm with her foot.

BERLIN SEEKS ARMY BANNED BY TREATY

Her First Move Is Note to France; Holds Defense Is Hampered.

Paris, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The first official move by Germany to alter the limitations placed on her army by the treaty of Versailles was made today.

A note from the German government concerning reorganization of the Reichswehr, which has been presented to Andre Francois-Poncet, French Ambassador at Berlin, by the German foreign minister, was delivered to Premier Edouard Herriot.

The premier refused to make public any details of the German communication, which will be discussed at tomorrow's session of the French cabinet.

Agitation against the Versailles limitations on the German army has been going on for some time. One of the objectors against the present system is Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, the German defense minister.

The Havas (French) News Agency correspondent at Berlin today cabled to Paris a lengthy interview with the defense minister published by the Resto del Carlino, of Bologna, Italy. In the interview the general complained that Germany had no military airplanes, tanks, heavy artillery, antiaircraft guns, submarines, airplane carriers or big cruisers.

He was quoted as saying that such arms were called "defensive" at the Geneva disarmament conference and without them Germany could not be assured of national security.

The Havas correspondent said that Germany took the position that if equality of armaments was not accorded her she would be obliged to modify her armaments in order to attain the security she claims is now lacking.

The Wilhelmstrasse is likely to insist, the correspondent hints, that a country as large as Germany can not live under conditions of inequality with other nations without becoming a dangerous "factor of insecurity."

Berlin, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Chancellor Franz von Papen will refrain from dissolving the new Reichstag only if his cabinet is empowered by a special emergency law to govern for six months without parliamentary support.

The Associated Press learned of this decision today as officials of the new Reichstag, which held its first session

Saito to Head Japan's Embassy in Washington

Tokyo, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Hirosho Saito, counselor of the London Embassy, will return to the United States to become charge d'affaires in the absence of Ambassador Debuchi, who is en route home on a furlough.

The transfer was announced today, and simultaneously it became unofficially known that Debuchi probably will not return to Washington.

TRUCE ORDERED IN FARM STRIKE PENDING PARLEY

Governors of Midwest to Meet in Sioux City on September 9.

HALT IN ACTIVITIES IS EFFECTIVE TODAY

Investigation Into Midnight Wounding of 14 Men Is Promised.

(Associated Press.)

A temporary truce was declared last night in the farmers' holiday movement for higher agricultural prices.

Milo Reno and John Chalmers, chairmen, respectively, of the National and Iowa Farmers Holiday Association, sent telegrams to all Iowa County leaders of the movement, in which cessation of activities effective today was ordered pending a Middle Western governors' conference in Sioux City September 9.

Reno and Chalmers said they would not jeopardize unarmed farmers in incidents such as occurred early Wednesday near Cherokee, when fourteen pickets were wounded by gun fire from automobiles driven at high speed through the picket lines.

Pickets Swarm Back.

Until the messages could be delivered, however, farmers' holiday adherents in many parts of Iowa and elsewhere were going ahead with their plans for extending the movement.

At Omaha, Nebr., pickets swarmed back upon Douglas County highways after Sheriff C. B. McDonald announced that by "peaceful persuasion" he had succeeded in opening up the roads to trucks carrying produce to market. The sheriff swore in fifteen more deputies.

Near Clinton, in southeast Iowa, pickets increased in numbers.

About 1,200 members of a large Des Moines cooperative marketing association voted to ignore the "strike" in Polk County. Farmers' leaders said they plan to remobilize their pickets.

Hog Receipts Drop.

At 31 concentration yards in Iowa and Minnesota, hog receipts dropped to 8,000 as compared to 13,500 a week

Colorado River Flood Threatens Hoover Dam

Las Vegas, Nev., Aug 31 (U.P.).—A sudden flood which caused the Colorado River to rise high in its banks threatened the new Hoover Dam project tonight when a wall of water began filling three of the giant diversion tunnels.

Newly poured concrete in the tunnels was covered by several feet of water, and may cause damage and delay mounting into millions of dollars, dam foremen reported. The flood waters were believed due to cloudbursts in Utah which filled many of the Colorado's tributaries.

Mollison Gives Up Plan To Fly Back to England

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Importuned by his wife, his physician and his flight backer, Capt. J. A. Mollison, the first airman to make a westward solo crossing of the North Atlantic by air, today abandoned his plan to return to England by plane.

Tomorrow Mollison will fly to Quebec and embark on the liner Empress of Britain. His wife, the former Amy Johnson, herself a noted distance flier, had beseeched him to choose the more prosaic steamer passage after learning from his physician that his nerves were in a bad way.

"Secret-Six" Charge Political-Gang Link

State's Attorney Accused of Having Wires in Chicago Tapped.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—A merry-go-round of sleuthing with the State's attorney and the "Secret Six" investigating each other whirled into public view today with a cross-fire of accusations and counterstatements.

The fireworks were set off by Alexander Jamie, investigating head of the "Secret Six," Chicago association of commerce anticrime organization, when he accused State's Attorney John A. Swanson of having telephone wires into a secret office of the "Secret Six" tapped and declared an investigation of the prosecutor's office conducted by his organization had disclosed a "political-criminal cabal exists."

Swanson replied with a denial that the "Secret Six" wires had been tapped intentionally, but admitted investigators on the trail of a gang of blackmailers supposed to have headquarters in the same building as the "Secret Six" office had tapped the wires by error for two days.

Jamie declared his investigators had been working secretly investigating the State's office for the last eight-

MERCURY HITS 100; EIGHT PROSTRATED

Kiosk Registers 106 Degrees; Many Federal Workers Are Excused.

Eight persons were prostrated yesterday when the rampaging thermometer, despite a short halt during the eclipse period, rocketed upward to a new temperature record for the summer, 100 degrees.

This was the official figure of the Weather Bureau and was recorded at 4 p. m. The downtown street temperature, as indicated by the Pennsylvania avenue kiosk, was 106 degrees.

The persons who were victims of the torrid day, which was nearly as severe in all cities of the Atlantic seaboard and which forced several Government departments to excuse employes, were apparently not seriously affected.

They were Mrs. G. V. Hilton, 30, of Carlton, Va.; Max Gritz, 38, of 1430 W street northwest; Charles Jackson, colored, 48, of 52 Defrees street northwest; James Bundy, colored, 52, of 1607 Seventh street northwest; Joe

Manchukuo Appoints Ambassador to Tokyo

Harbin, Manchuria, Aug. 29 (Delayed in transmission) (A.P.).—The new state of Manchukuo, established by Japanese troops, who expelled the Chinese from Manchuria, today appointed an ambassador to represent it in Tokyo. Bao Kwang Jen, mayor of Harbin, was chosen for the post.

In a note sent to Soviet Russia, Manchukuo demanded the creation of a neutral zone along the frontier in order that clashes might be avoided. The note also called on the Soviet government to dismantle all its military structures within the territory of Manchukuo and to withdraw its troops within its own borders.

Mukden Is Raided By Chinese Again

Arsenal, Air Base and Wireless Station Still Are Targets.

Tokyo (Thursday), Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Large bands of Chinese guerrillas descended on Mukden today for the second time this week and again attacked vital points in the city, the Mukden correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi reports.

Japanese military authorities called out full contingents of their own troops and those attached to the new State of Manchukuo and bitter fighting took place in the streets.

As in Monday's onslaught, the invaders raided the great south gate of the Chinese walled city and launched simultaneous attacks on the arsenal, the air base and the wireless station, striking the nerve centers of the capital city.

Pangborn May Postpone His Flight to England

Portland, Me., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Clyde Pangborn, round-the-world flier, said today he doubted whether his projected flight from Minneapolis to England would be made this year.

Pangborn was pilot of a plane which brought news photographers here to obtain pictures of the eclipse. The lateness of the season and difficulty in completing commercial arrangements probably will necessitate postponement of the flight, Pangborn said.

WALKER CASE DELAY TO OCTOBER HINTED

Mayor's Illness and Plans of Roosevelt May Result in Postponing.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The possibility that the Walker case would remain in quiescence until early October tonight appeared to hinge on the health of Mayor Walker.

Gov. Roosevelt, who for 12 days has listened to arguments over the demand for the ouster of the mayor, is scheduled to depart on the Western tour of his presidential campaign September 12. The death of Mayor Walker's brother resulted in but a single hearing being slated for this week, and the possibility that there would be no meeting held on Friday, as planned, arose when word of the illness of the mayor came to Albany yesterday.

It was pointed out today that if Walker's nervous exhaustion still prevented him returning to Albany next week, Mr. Roosevelt might decide to hold to his own plans and leave for the West on the 12th. His itinerary does not call for his return to New York State until October 3.

Should Walker be able to return to Albany for the scheduled resumption of the hearing, however, an effort would be made to speed the case toward an early termination. It was the expressed belief at the Capital that not many more witnesses remain to be called.

An additional possibility of delay in the ultimate decision of Mr. Roosevelt on the recommendation of Samuel Seabury and others for the mayor's removal came today word that George Donnelly, Bronx man who instituted the first court proceedings designed to block the governor's decision, intended appealing to the higher courts the adverse ruling he received from the supreme court.

The Albany County clerk's office, in which a notice of the appeal would

Plane Finds Youth Unharmed on Key

Grandson of St. Gaudens Rode Out Florida Storm in 22-Foot Sloop.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Augustus St. Gaudens, 23, grandson of the famous sculptor, was found unharmed on an uninhabited key 28 miles south of Miami late today by Pilot Cal Latham, who made an aerial search after Coast Guard patrol boats had failed to find the youth. He rode out Monday night's storm in a 22-foot sloop, he told Latham.

Receiving an hour's warning of the blow from a passing fishing boat, St. Gaudens ran into Caesars Creek, near the Cocolobo Cay Club, and found shelter in a cove.

St. Gaudens was unconcernedly picking limes on the key when Latham sighted his boat and landed. The youth said he would start his return to Miami in the morning and seemed surprised that concern had been felt for his safety.

Alabama Legislature Votes Big Bond Issue

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Submission of a $20,000,000 bond issue to liquidate the State debts was voted by the State Senate today, completing legislation on the measure.

The bill previously had passed the House. It must be ratified by the voters at the polls November 4.

ARMY AND NAVY IN PACT ENDING SPORTS BREACH

New 3-Year Agreement Heals Break of Two Service Teams.

PHILADELPHIA SITE OF GAME ON DEC. 3

Different Eligibility Codes, Crux of 1927 Break, Are Unaffected.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Army and Navy healed a five-year break today in one of the oldest and finest of all intercollegiate athletic rivalries, and two great service football elevens will battle again at their own instigation on December 3 on Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

The weakening hostility of the two training academies for Uncle Sam's Army and Navy, all but swept away in two post-season contests between their football teams for charity in 1930 and 1931, was dissipated entirely today as the superintendents of the two schools met in Philadelphia and signed a treaty of peace.

The disputed ground upon which they broke in December of 1927—the three-year eligibility rule for gridiron warriors—was left as it always had been up to the time Navy made it an issue. For three years, at least, each academy will make its own eligibility rules, the principle for which Army held out at the time of the break. The agreement signed today runs through 1933 and 1934.

Statement Issued.

"Faced with a situation under which postseason football games are repeatedly played very late in the year to the detriment of the academic work of both institutions," said the official statement, "the military and naval academies have decided to arrange a three-year series of athletic contests.

"The arrangement is made without change in existent policies under which each institution fixes its own eligibility rules but without prejudice to any future position which either academy may take in the matter."

The statement was signed by Maj. Gen. William D. Connor, superintendent of the Military Academy, and Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, head of the Naval Academy.

Army Won Charity Games.

The need of charity and the unemployed brought Army and Navy together last fall and in 1930 at the Yankee Stadium here, the Army winning both postseason contests, the first, 6-0, and the second, 17-7. The 1930 game was marked by decided coldness on the part of the Army Corps for the Navy regiment.

The Army-Navy break was brewing for several seasons before the actual break following Army's 14-9 triumph in 1927.

Earlier that year Navy had announced that in the future it would schedule football games only with schools enforcing eligibility rules al-

Legislature Indorses McDuffie for Speaker

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Representative John McDuffie of Alabama was indorsed today by both branches of the State Legislature for Speaker of the House of Representatives to succeed John N. Garner, of Texas, Democratic vice presidential nominee.

A joint indorsement was passed unanimously in both the House and Senate. The Alabama representative is Democratic whip in the House.

HEAVY CLOUDS MAR STUDY OF TOTAL ECLIPSE

SPECTACLE SUCCESS TO OTHER WATCHERS

Ships See Moon's Shadow Racing 2,000 Miles an Hour Over Waves.

(Associated Press.)

Big clouds wasted more than half the $1,000 a second which astronomers from several nations spent to study yesterday's total eclipse of the sun.

The all-important corona was blotted out by clouds for only about half the expeditions, but these included a high percentage of the largest and most elaborate plans to do something new.

The "radio eclipse" was a success, and the Kenneily-Heaviside layer was caught in the act of rising during totality the same as it is supposed to do at night. This was determined by the Tufts College scientists at Newburyport, Mass.

The "Einstein" measurements of Northwestern University were completed in light clouds. It will require months to calibrate the readings.

Ships at sea saw the moon's shadow distinctly racing 2,000 miles an hour over the waves. From an altitude of 10,000 feet in an airplane over New Hampshire Dr. Clyde Fisher, of New York, saw the shadow sweep across snowy cloud tops.

Success to Onlookers.

A census of queer things done by animals indicated that birds are more sensitive to eclipses than the four-footed creatures.

Spectators fared better than astronomers, for the eye was better than the camera in this eclipse, and much that the plates missed excited the admiration of millions.

New York took to its skyscrapers for a better view of the phenomenon.

The thousands of visitors from all over the Nation who had turned the little town of Conway, N. H., into a city, trooped away in disappointment that the vagaries of weather had in great measure spoiled their view of the totality.

President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt each halted with

Von Gronau Continues On Way to Attu Island

St. Paul Island, Alaska, Aug. 31 (U. P.).—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau radioed the Navy station here at 3 p. m., Pacific standard time, that he had abandoned an earlier plan to halt at Tanang Island en route from Dutch Harbor to Attu Island.

He said he and his three companions would continue in their seaplane to Attu, despite a shortage of food and poor flying conditions. They left Kanaga Harbor, where they spent the night, at 1:30 p. m., Pacific standard time.

France May Liberalize Ruling on U. S. Fruit

Paris, Aug 31 (A.P.).—American negotiators obtained what they regarded as a small victory today when the French agreed to consider their proposal for liberal interpretation of French import quotas on American fruits pending conclusion of a trade treaty.

It is the American contention that the present quotas, affecting principally apples and pears and representing a reduction of approximately 39 per cent in imports of American fruit, adversely affect United States trade.

Doolittle Sets New Record With 293 Miles Per Hour

Lack of Barograph Robs Flier of Making New World's Mark.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—In the gathering dusk of the sun's eclipse, Maj. James H. Doolittle today mounted the land plane speed throne of the world by flashing four times over a 3-kilometer course at an average speed of 292.193 miles an hour.

The former Air Corps ace, piloting a stubby plane that has earned the title of "the flying silo," surpassed an 8-year-old mark, the existing record of 278.48 miles an hour, set December 11, 1924, by Warrant Officer Bonnett, of France.

Doolittle carried no barograph as he made his spectacular flight, and his record therefore must remain unofficial and uncertifiable. Had he carried a barograph the instrument would

Five Are Feared Drowned In Gulf Coast Hurricane

Reports of Fishing Party's Safety Unverified at Pensacola, as Communications Fail; Boy, 12, Electrocuted by Fallen Wire at Florida City.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Five men, reported drowned in the gulf here tonight when their fishing boat struck a reef and tipped over, later were reported safe at the Coast Guard life saving station across the bay from the city. Communications with the Coast Guard station failed, however, and their safety could not immediately be established.

D. H. Marler, one of a crew of six of the fishing boat, the Shamrock II, swam ashore near the Pensacola Beach Casino and said he had no hope that any of his companions had escaped drowning.

Shortly thereafter, however, the telephone operator at the Pensacola Naval Air Station said she had talked with the Coast Guard station just before communications failed that the five men were safe there.

Marler gave the names of his companions as L. D. Smith, 60; D. W. Smith, 30; Joe O'Neal, 28; William Brown, 32, and O. C. Riggy, 25. Riggy lives in Pensacola. The others were from Destin, Fla.

Marler said they sought safe anchorage from a tropical disturbance moving along the coast and when they failed to get into Pensacola Bay they decided to attempt to beach the boat.

When they were about 300 yards from shore, he said the craft struck a reef and was wrecked. He clung

ECLIPSE DESCRIBED BY PLANE OBSERVER

Capt. Stevens, Army Flier, Confident His Photographs Will Be Successful.

Flying at an altitude of five miles near the center line of the eclipse, none of the aerial unit of the National Geographic Society's eclipse expedition, conducted by Capt. Albert W. Stevens and Lieut. Charles D. McAllister, of the Army Air Corps, had an unobstructed view of the eclipse phenomena throughout totality. Capt. Stevens is confident that development of his films will show the first successful photographic record of the approaching shadow of the moon from such a great height, and that in some of the exposures the curvature of the great dark spot will appear clearly.

At the same time that the airplane observations were being made, the ground unit of the National Geographic Society expedition, situated near North Conway, on Mount Black Cap, was making natural color exposures of the corona, and black and white photographs of all the direct sun phenomena, as well as of the dramatic appearances of the moon's shadow as it struck peak after peak of the surrounding White Mountains.

Because of the wide range of activities of the society's two units, in North Conway and over southeastern Maine, and to Boston, reports were cleared by telegraph and telephone through the society's headquarters in Washington.

Fliers' Description.

Describing the remarkable appearance of the sun through the clear, cold air in which he was flying, Capt. Stevens said:

"At totality the corona sprang into sight very much as if some one had snapped an electric switch. To the northwest at about 30 degrees from the sun a bright star or planet could be seen very distinctly at an elevation of slightly lower than the elevation of the sun. At about 5 degrees north of the sun could be seen a planet that was slightly lower.

"The corona had a very marked extension or protuberance, giving a very sharp point at a position, relative to the sun, corresponding to half past 10 on a clock face. At the positions corresponding to 4 and 5 o'clock there were other protuberances that were more bluish in appearance.

"The color of the corona from the air was a pale white. The 5 o'clock protuberance had more of a rose tint. The long one at 10:30 was a delicate bluish white. The maximum extension of the longest protuberance was about the diameter of the sun away from its disk. The balance of the corona extended about one-fourth of the sun's diameter, the protuberance at 4 and 5 o'clock being about one-third of the sun's diameter.

"The most remarkable aspect of the ground shadow, visibly, was the appearance of the fan edge. The shadow, as it approached the horizon, had a saffron color. Between the observer and the horizon the air appeared of an indigo color. The color of the horizon line can best be described as being that of steel just before it is ready to melt.

Streamers of Light.

"Under the airplane could be seen the dark surface of the earth. The clouds directly underneath the airplane were platinum colored. After totality the shadow passed out to sea, where there were fewer clouds, and where it was soon lost against the dark background of the ocean.

"This condition was exactly the same as the appearance of the shadow of the moon observed by me on the clouds at Honey Lake, Nev., about two years ago, where it also was much more distinct on its approach than when it receded.

"In the airplane small nail holes and other small apertures in the fuselage cast crescent-shaped images on the floor. Fifteen minutes before totality, a very distinct and unusual formation appeared, perhaps half way from the airplane to the ground. This appeared to be made up of streamers of light like long columns extending from the clouds earthward and undoubtedly was caused by the sharper projective power of the sun when its area was reduced. We made photographs of this phenomenon."

Cliff Edwards Marries Nancy Dover, of Stage

Las Vegas, Nev., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Clifton ("Ukulele Ike") Edwards and Lucille Kelly, 22, known on the stage as Nancy Dover, flew here today from Los Angeles and were married by Judge F. M. Ryan. They left immediately for Hollywood where Edwards is making a motion picture.

Florence Lake and Eddie Rubin, both of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Allie Kelly, mother of the bride, attended the wedding which was performed in a hotel lobby.

SECRET SIX ACCUSE STATE'S ATTORNEY

tioning revealed, Jamie said, that he was assigned to the job by an attache of the State's attorney's office.

The "Secret Six" leader declined to reveal what his investigation of the prosecutor's office had disclosed except to say:

"I have been investigating the State's attorney's office for the past eighteen months, the last eight of which have been an intensive drive. I have made satisfactory progress and have found that a political-criminal cabal exists."

Swanson, in reply, asserted:

"I will welcome any investigation of my office by Mr. Jamie. I will escort him personally through the building and give him any information that he desires. * * * If he finds anything or anyone wrong, I will be only too glad in righting the matter. * * * As to a political-criminal cabal, I am in total ignorance of it. I will withhold any definite answer to Mr. Jamie's charges until I have learned further and in more detail his accusations against my office."

Office Is Raided.

The alleged wire tapping plot came to a head yesterday, Mr. Jamie said, after telephone company officials had traced the suspected tapping to another office in the building. Investigators hurried to the suspected room. They burst in, Jamie said, and found Frank Carroll, a private detective, listening in on the "secret six" wire. Carrroll said he was employed by James H. McQueeny, head of a private detective agency, and McQueeny's office was raided by police. McQueeny and Gordon White, one of Swanson's investigators, were found there and questioned, Jamie said.

White, Jamie declared, asserted Lieut. John Leonard, Swanson's present chief investigator, had directed him to tap the wire.

Bespectacled Capital Sees Sun Reduced to Shadow

President and First Lady Among Thousands Who Don Smoked Glasses to Watch Eclipse; Clouds Make Only Listless Attempt to Spoil Show.

A dusk-like light spread itself over the Capital yesterday afternoon as thousands of Washingtonians peered through dark glasses and exposed photographic films gazing intently at the eclipse.

"Why, we didn't even have to turn on the lights," was the comment most generally heard. To many the word eclipse meant total darkness and they were disappointed when at 89 per cent of totality, the maximum height of the phenomenon here, the city appeared just as it does when twilight first casts its fading rays.

The eclipse officially began at 2:24 p. m., while a large cumulus cloud obscured the observation of the sun. A few minutes later the sky was clear and the sun started to become only partially visible. At 3:35 the eclipse was at its height here with 89 per cent of the sun obscured. The phenomenon declined until 4:41, when the hot summer sun again cast its rays on the city full strength. With the exception of the one large cloud that prevented observers from seeing the start of the eclipse perfect weather prevailed.

Watched by Hoover.

President Hoover was among the thousands who donned dark glasses to scrutinize the phenomenon. The Navy Department forwarded several sets of suitable glasses to the White House for the use of the President and his staff.

Mrs. Hoover watched from the rear portico of the Executive Mansion and had wives of Cabinet members and friends as her guests.

Several of the Government departments and business houses allowed their personnel to leave the buildings and go onto the street to points of vantage to see the eclipse. At 3:30 several thousand workers were out watching the progress of the phenomenon.

While a large percentage of the city's population watched from the streets and from housetops at least three expeditions of Washington scientists were in the eclipse area.

The Navy Department sent a group to Limerick, Me. A party from Georgetown University was located at Fryeburg, Me., while the National Geographic Society had a party in the White Mountains and a special aerial observation party operating from Boston.

Other Operations.

The Navy Department also sent an airplane yesterday into the eclipse area to aid their party there. The plane based at Concord, N. H. It was piloted by Lieut. C. M. Huntington. He had with him W. M. Brown, associate astronomer at the Naval Observatory; Lieut. Herbert W. Taylor, photographic officer of the Bureau of Aeronautics; Walter Richardson, of the same bureau and four Navy photographers.

The National Geographic Society expedition which was sent to the eclipse area through the cooperation of the Army Air Corps, was headed by Capt. A. W. Stevens, internationally known aerial photographer.

Both groups made pictures of the shadow of the eclipse on the earth's surface.

Post Takes Air Pictures.

When the Weather Bureau made the prediction that heavy cumulus clouds might interrupt the observation of the phenomenon here The Post sent a photographer into the air in an Eastern Air Transport "Condor" airplane. The pilot was instructed to fly above any clouds that might prevent making photographs from the ground. At the time of the eclipse, however, the air was clear and the airplane party, although they occupied ringside seats, saw little more than the observers on the ground.

The United States Naval Observatory here concentrated on determination of the exact time during which the sun was eclipsed. The observatory sent out special time signals during the eclipse, one at 1:55 and the other at 3:55.

The visual observations were handled through a five-inch equatorial telescope set on a small balcony outside the observatory dome. Astronomers J. C. Hammond and J. J. Norbeck were in charge. The huge 12-inch equatorial telescope inside the observatory was manned by U. S. Lyons, B. P. Sharplaus and R. L. Mates. The group sought to get the projected image of the sun on phases of contact.

Eclipse Fools Zoo Animals; All Quiet Down for Moment

Reaction About Same as When Night Begins to Fall, Dr. Mann Says; Noise and Activity Reappear Afterward, However.

The South American condor went into his hut and retired, the lion gazed intently at the sky, yawned and went to sleep, the Sumatra tiger came out of his den and took his regular evening bath, the monkey house quieted down. It was twilight to them, the end of another day at the Zoo, and it would soon be dark, they thought. But it was only an eclipse of the sun.

Then the light became bright again. The Zoo resumed its activity. The Bengal tiger reasoned that it was just a short night and called lustily to Head Keeper William Blackburn for breakfast. The lion paced his cage nervously, staring at the sky, as if saying to himself, "Africa was never like this."

Once the eclipse was over, Dr. William H. Mann, director of the Zoo, called in his assistants and conducted a press conference. The keepers reported the conduct of each of the animals they had been watching.

Said Dr. Mann:

"The general reaction was about the same as when night begins to fall. The entire Zoo quieted down. Most interesting to me, however, was that for the first time in 21 years the chacma baboon was fooled. He quit work too early."

Known as "the union monkey" because of the regularity of his hours, the chacma felt that night was approaching and that it was time to rest. But when he saw he was mistaken he quickly emerged from his hut and resumed his post, looking suspectingly at the crowd to see if anyone had noticed his error.

HEAVY CLOUDS HAMPER STUDY OF ECLIPSE IN NEW ENGLAND

the Nation at Washington and Albany, N. Y., respectively, to turn their eyes skyward.

Hampered by Clouds.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The total eclipse raced through skies half-filled with big, slow moving clouds today. It was an unexpectedly literal fulfillment of the astronomers' forecasts of a "50-50 chance of seeing the celestial big show."

While the spectators got an even break, there was a cruel reverse english for the astronomers in this 50-50 sky, for it spoiled for very many of them the completely clear pictures needed for science.

The clouds moved about one dozen diameters of the sun during the minute and a half of total eclipse—a heartbreaking pace for astronomers, but only a thrilling gamble for spectators.

Some of the millions of onlookers saw the corona framed between majestic clouds, a color spectacle sometimes considered more beautiful than the background of starry sky.

Picture Success Unknown.

Even the astronomers who were lucky will mostly not know for days, even sometimes for months, whether their great project of learning more about the sun's rays has succeeded. Their plates must go back to laboratories for microscopic study.

Scores of shots were aimed at the last visible edge of the sun, a wall of flames 1,000 miles or more high. For 62 years astronomers have been making this difficult picture, and in all that time six have turned out really good.

And for 20 years astronomers have been trying for spectroscopic pictures of the horns of the crescent sun, without getting anything. Word came from Montreal, where this "shot" was tried again today, that heavy clouds interfered.

But it was not all grief, even for the astronomers. The Great Lick Observatory reported "We are hopeful."

"Radio Eclipse."

The clouds failed to bother the "radio eclipse." The effect of the dark shadow on the reception of radio signals, its action was just like night. These radio signals were shot aloft from half a dozen stations into the eternally calm, cloudless stratosphere, to strike against, and bound back to earth from the mysterious electrified layer of rarefied atmosphere called the Kennelly-Heaviside layer.

At Fryeburg, Me., two of the world's leading scientists, Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson and Dr. Irving Langmuir, "watched" the radio eclipse through special instruments. At Douglas Hill, Me., J. J. Nassau, of Case School, Cleveland, and Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, of Ohio Wesleyan University, sent these radio signals to Cleveland underneath the eclipse.

On the Maine coast at Seabrook Beach, Dr. G. W. Pickard and Prof. C. W. Kendrick, of Tufts College, operated another radio ray upon the shadow. At Deal Beach, N. J., and at the American Radio League at Hartford, Conn., other experts watched, while amateurs all over the country tuned in expecting to send their reports to scientists.

A spot now on the face of the sun, causing some magnetic storms, was about the only worry of the "radio eclipse" watchers.

Serious Social Blunder By Eclipse Is Charged

Center Conway, N. H., Aug 31 (A.P.).—The total eclipse was two to three seconds late today and it was one second short of the 99 it should have lasted here.

This was the surprising observation of Dr. Frederick Slocum, head of the Wesleyan University expedition.

The skies were so nearly clear at this point that Dr. Slocum said he was hopeful of good results in the observations.

But if the delay in arrival is verified by other observations, Dr. Slocum said, it is something important. The timing of the moon's motion has been carried to such perfection that three seconds is a serious social blunder among the stars.

Earthly tide charts, some of the refinements of clock time and many calculations of the positions of the other planets and stars depend on precise knowledge of the moon's movements.

Man Held Morally Unfit For Power of Science

York, England, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Man is "morally unfit" at present for the new power science has given him and its possible effect on humanity's future gives cause for "alarm," the British Association for the Advancement of Science was told today by its president, Sir Alfred Ewing.

"The command of nature has been put into man's hands before he knows how to command himself," said Sir Alfred, who delivered the opening address. Many present-day problems might be more readily solved if approached with a purely scientific spirit, however, he hinted. He indicated he did not believe man would destroy himself through science.

W. C. T. U. ATTACKS ROOSEVELT ON RUM

Holds His Repeal Program Constitutes Surrender "To Lower Powers."

(Associated Press.)

The National Women's Christian Temperance Union said in a statement yesterday that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's prohibition repeal policy "constitutes a surrender to the lower powers."

Saying the statement was made "in opposition to the repeal; not in favor of any party or candidate," the W. C. T. U. outlined views it holds textually as follows:

"Once upon a time there was a man named Roosevelt in the White House who, as the result of experiences with the liquor traffic, said that the American people must defeat the liquor traffic or the liquor traffic would defeat the American people. Later during war the liquor traffic attempted such defeat by threatening President Wilson with a blockade of his war plans if in any way the liquor traffic was curtailed. That final treacherous impudence caused the American people to outlaw the liquor traffic by the eighteenth amendment.

"For a dozen years liquor has acted the part of an outlaw, running its business illicitly, refusing to obey, making threats and spreading lies. All this has scared people of weaker moral constitutions, and a smaller Roosevelt has arisen who offers to restore the liquor traffic to a respectable place in business, with its old opportunities to debauch in return for a license, if only the liquor traffic and its friends will quit kicking and place this second Roosevelt in the White House. * * *

"Gov. Roosevelt's intentions may be honest; but if so, he is exposing abysmal ignorance of the liquor power and the liquor problem.

"Gov. Roosevelt makes much of the promise of a liquor-soaked nation without saloons. Liquor, no matter how sold, has a universal and uniform debauching effect. However, the liquor business wants and will have saloons in case of repeal. Right now, according to newspaper advices, liquor people are taking options on property they hope to turn into saloons. We are informed that the brewers are laughing in their sleeves at the gullibility of the American people who think the saloon can be prohibited * * *."

Hyde and Stone Confer With Hoover on Prices

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Hyde and Chairman Stone of the Farm Board yesterday reported after a conference with President Hoover that they had discussed "the general commodity situation," which they described as "hopeful."

Asked if they had discussed the farmers' holiday movement centered in Iowa, both Stone and Hyde replied they had "talked about a little of everything." They declined, however, to give details.

Pork Barrel Called Roosevelt Emblem

Former Senator Allen Declares Garner's Ideas Are Fallacious.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Former Senator Henry J. Allen (Republican), of Kansas, in an address tonight said that to elect Roosevelt would mean "establishing the pork barrel as the emblem of our national security."

"People often ask why England decided to go off the gold standard," he said at a meeting of the Newport County Republican Club. "She didn't so decide. As has been stated by a well-known economist, 'when a man is sliding off the roof of a barn, he doesn't decide to get off.'

"England had been driven forward by the socialistic leadership of men who believed, as Jack Garner believes, that the way to make people happy and prosperous is to give them all the money they need out of the Government Treasury. * * *"

Five Killed in Kentucky When Train Hits Auto

La Grange, Ky., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Five persons were killed today when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Louisville & Nashville passenger train at Clore's Crossing, three miles west of here.

The dead were: Walter Douglas, 62, farmer; Mrs. Lula Douglas, 49, his wife; Prentice Douglas, 39, a son of Walter; Miss Mabel Douglas, 19, and Miss Matilda Douglas, 15, daughters of Prentice.

All were killed outright except Mabel, who died before an ambulance reached the scene. The train was en route from Lexington to Louisville.

Domestic Highway Materials Urged

Use of U. S. Products on Aid Projects Asked by Hyde.

(Associated Press.)

Road builders holding contracts for highway construction under the emergency fund provided by Congress were urged yesterday by Secretary Hyde to use cement and other materials manufactured in this country.

Citing protests that materials of foreign manufacture were being used, the Secretary said he was without authority to point out formally that the intent of Congress in passing emergency approriations for road construction was to afford employment. But he added:

"In my opinion, there is a strong moral implication arising from the emergency character of the appropriations that preference in the materials used should be given to materials produced in this country."

$700 Worth of Smokes Stolen.

Local tobacco dealers were warned yesterday to be on the lookout for eleven cases of cigarettes stolen from a freight car en route from Washington to Baltimore. Police believe that the thieves will attempt to sell the stolen merchandise, valued at $700, to Washington dealers.

Curley Club Dance Tonight.

A dance will be held tonight at 9 o'clock in the Portland street auditorium at Congress Heights under auspices of the Curley Club. Proceeds will be applied to the scholarship fund of the club.

1867 Eclipse Is Described In Old Letter

A scholarly and graphic description of the total eclipse of the sun in August, 1867, by a noted educator of the nineteenth century, was found by a Post reporter yesterday in a letter in the possession of Mrs. F. A. Ury, of 7120 Piney Branch road northwest, Takoma Park, D. C.

The letter was written to a friend by the Rev. L. L. Pinkerton, great-uncle of Mrs. Ury, and was indited after the former had witnessed the eclipse from a point 15 miles south of Greensburg, Ind.

Dr. Pinkerton, a descendant of Lord Baltimore, told of the sensations that he shared with "multiplied thousands who are, at the same instant, looking skyward with palpitating hearts awaiting what must seem to many a derangement in the procession of worlds; and the soul will be stirred with a universal sympathy."

Standing near a cornfield, Dr. Pinkerton related:

"The changes that had taken place in the appearances of things about us during the 30 minutes immediately preceding the moment of total darkness were well calculated to disturb one's equanimity.

"The light that had seemed on the point of total and final extinguishment was neither twilight nor moonlight, but a purplish veil in which every familiar thing became spectral and ghostly.

"The purplish blackness of the moon was the more striking in contrast with the halo of glory that surrounded her," narrated Dr. Pinkerton, and he told how several in his party, "including Brother Shackelford," were carried away in "ecstasy of wonder and delight and adoration, and he threw his arms up wildly and shouted his irrepressible rapture."

NEW GERMAN DUTY LIST AFFECTS U. S.

Washington Advised Tariffs Will Go Into Effect September 6.

(Associated Press.)

The Commerce Department was advised yesterday that a new German tariff decree providing drastic increases in import duties on a number of articles had been promulgated and would go into effect September 6.

The articles affected, nearly all of which are exported from the United States, include geese, egg yolk, albumen, glue, carpets, velvets, woolens, cotton yarn, linen and jute fabrics, oil cloth, linoleum, clothing, brushes, glass, artificial teeth, meat choppers, pens, steel wool, chrome nickel wire and certain chemicals.

H. C. McLean, acting commercial attache of the American Embassy at Berlin, cabled the information to the Commerce Department along with rates on the principal products of interest to the United States.

Other articles exported by the United States to Germany which will be affected by the decree include fruit juices, shoe polish, cinema films, both exposed and developed negatives; emery cloth, pumice stone cloth, asbestos cloth, typewriters, calculating machines, cash registers, automatic scales, vending machines, sewing and knitting machines, saxophones and other wind musical instruments.

In addition it was reported that import quotas were contemplated on lard, fruits, canned fish, timber and hides.

Veterans Assail Hurley's Appearance in Campaign

Sioux Falls, S. Dak., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Objection to the proposed appearance of Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, at Huron, September 14, to open the Republican campaign in the Northwest was made today by the Service Men's Voters League of Sioux Falls.

The objection was made in a letter sent to Everett L. Sanders, Chicago, Republican campaign chairman, and signed by Carl C. Lauxman, chairman of the league. The letter alleged Secretary Hurley had never explained his action in calling out units of the Army to oust the bonus marchers from their quarters in Washington.

to a piece of the wreckage and floated ashore.

The air station telephone operator said the five men at the Coast Guard station reported they also clung to wreckage and drifted along the shore line.

Ben Baker, 12, son of Assistant Postmaster R. A. Baker, died in a hospital tonight of burns received when he came in contact with a live wire that had fallen to the street near his home.

The Weather Bureau said at 9:25 p. m. (Central standard time) that the wind velocity here was 65 miles an hour. Earlier it had reached 70 miles an hour. The barometer at 9:25 was 29.39.

The Weather Bureau said the center of the storm still was south and west of Pensacola, and continued strong winds here for several hours were forecast.

Reports from Mobile, Ala., said a steady rain was falling and the wind ranged between 30 and 40 miles an hour. At 8:30 p. m. the barometer stood at 29.52, a drop of .02 of an inch in two and one-half hours.

The height of the storm at Mobile was expected about midnight, and the Weather Bureau there predicted winds of 60 miles an hour or more.

At Gulfport, Miss., the barometer fell to 29.55 and a 30 to 35 mile an hour wind was blowing. No damage had been reported. Winds of increasing intensity were being felt in the vicinity of Biloxi. Every precaution had been taken along the beach front and all boats had been removed to the back bay.

Apalachicola, Fla., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Damage estimated by authorities at several thousand dollars was done by the tropical storm that swept into this town from the Gulf of Mexico late today.

Nine fishing boats were sunk and a dredge was damaged in fleeing toward safe mooring. Tides inundated several streets near the waterfront. The wind reached 50 miles an hour at its peak and heavy rain fell during the day.

Reports reaching here from Panama City said the wind did not reach greater velocity than 30 miles an hour there.

WAGNER SEES BLOW TO PRESIDENT BY AID

Says Adams' Boston Speech Is Worst Accusation of Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Wagner, of New York, in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee last night, called upon Republican speakers to explain statements of President Hoover's actions at the start of the depression.

"Secretary Charles Francis Adams of the Navy," said Senator Wagner, "has just explained in Boston that it was a mistake to suppose that President Hoover did not realize back in the beginning of his term that the country was on the verge of a business crash.

"If Mr. Adams is accurate he is accusing the President of a more deliberate misrepresentation of conditions than has emanated from any of Mr. Hoover's political foes.

"On October 14, 1929, Mr. Lamont, Mr. Hoover's successor as Secretary of the Department of Commerce, as recorded in the New York Times next day, 'denied rumors that a severe depression in business and industrial activity was impending.'

Followed by Stock Crash.

"Ten days later came the great nose dive of the stock market, and the day following, President Hoover solemnly assured us that 'the fundamental business of the country is on a sound and prosperous basis.' Less than four weeks after that the President said 'there is no reason why business should not be carried on as usual,' and on the last day of the year, 1929, Secretary Mellon of the Treasury made public an announcement that 'I see nothing in the present situation that is either menacing or warrants pessimism.'

"Now, if President Hoover and Secretary Mellon agreed that speculation had gone mad and that the crisis was so great that the Secretary of the Treasury should use all his efforts to put on the brakes, how was it that the President permitted the Department of Commerce to issue the declaration in October of that same year denying that a busines slump was impending?

Points Out "Dilemma."

"If President Hoover knew, as Mr. Adams suggests, that disaster lay ahead, how could he assure the country on October 25 that the business situation was sound and prosperous?

"It would appear that in his Boston statement the Secretary of the Navy, in his capacity as defender of the President, was either wrong in his recollection, or that Mr. Hoover and practically his whole Cabinet were telling the people just before the crash what they did not themselves believe.

"It is not for any Democrat to suggest which horn of the dilemma the Republican leaders should take."

The Weather Bureau reported a three-degree drop during the eclipse period. How much of this was caused by the eclipse and how much by the cloudiness, was not estimated. On the recording thermometer at the kiosk, the traced line, indicating the temperature, dipped back from 104 degrees to 103 degrees and then pushed on upward to 106 degrees, during the eclipse.

The Census Bureau at Sixth street and Missouri avenue and the Federal Trade Commission were the first governmental establishments to be closed because of the heat. Employes were excused at noon.

Two hours later Treasury bureaus in the temporary buildings along the Mall were closed, as was the office of the Supervising Architect on the top floor of the Treasury Department.

About 50 per cent of the employes of the State Department were excused, as were a similar percentage in several other departments.

Yesterday's 100 degrees, although the highest of the year, lacks 6 degrees of the high all-time record of July 20, 1930.

In the forecast of the Weather Bureau there is little hope for a break in the torrid wave. Showers are scheduled to furnish a brief respite tonight, but more warm weather will follow, according to the prediction.

Parks, swimming resorts, and nearby beaches were sought by thousands. Hundreds prepared to spend the night on the grass or in cars in Potomac Park.

WALKER CASE DELAY TO OCTOBER HINTED

be filed, had no record of such notice from Donnelly at the closing hour tonight.

The decision of Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley, handed down two days ago, denied both the motion of Donnelly and that of Mayor Walker for a court order to restrain Mr. Roosevelt from deciding whether the mayor should remain in office.

At New York today John J. Curtin, the mayor's counsel, issued a statement to clear up what he said was a misunderstanding of his position relative to the calling of defense witnesses for cross-examination at the hearing.

"Before the hearing opened," Curtin's statement said, "I demanded, in writing, that all witnesses upon whom Mayor Walker's accusers relied for their conclusions or charges be produced for examination and cross-examination. I subsequently read this letter into the record.

"My demand was refused definitely. I have not withdrawn from that position at any time, even in the smallest degree. Any attempt at a later time to offer me the privilege of subpenaing these witnesses myself misconceives the whole idea and was not in compliance with the demand, which has now been upheld by the supreme court at least as being a matter of common justice."

2,000 About to Get Work.

Philadelphia, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—More than 2,000 employes in the locomotive and car repair shops of the Reading Co. will resume work in September for a period of several months, it was announced today by Charles H. Ewing, president of the railroad.

CAMPAIGN MACHINE OF G.O.P. COMPLETE

Drive to Be Shortest in Many Years, but Intensive Program Is Ready.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Ten weeks of extensive preparations left the Republican party's campaign machine complete tonight for the drive after votes for the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

The final remaining appointment to the campaign organization was made today and party leaders from their national campaign headquarters here announced programs have been completed for the quest for votes in every State.

"The campaign will extend over a shorter length of time than in many election years," said Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, "but it will be as vigorous as any ever conducted."

At the speakers' bureau, one of the twoscore campaign offices here, a staff under Representative C. William Ramsayer, of Iowa, is finishing a schedule that at the height of the campaign will find as many as 400 speakers appearing simultaneously in different sections of the country.

The most recent addition to the organization is Nathan William MacChesney, a Chicago attorney, who will direct the national Hoover-Curtis organization bureau and committees. He has charge of organizing more than 10,000 Republican clubs.

Assisting Sanders in directing the campaign are Lehr Fess, of Toledo, an attorney and expert on parliamentary law; Robert H. Lucas, of Louisville, former executive director of the national committee, and Ray Benjamin, of San Francisco, another assistant to the chairman.

The Central Publicity Bureau is directed by Senator Henry J. Allen, of Wichita, Kans., a newspaper publisher. In charge of the women's division is Mrs. Ellis . Yost, f Huntington, W. Va., former national committeewoman.

Shannon Quiz Members Rap U. S. Competition

New Orleans, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Representative E. E. Cox, of Georgia, a member of the Shannon congressional committee, said today the committee's investigation convinced him "the Government is in too many lines of business in competition with its citizens and should begin to withdraw."

He added, however, that although he had been "hostile" to the Farm Board at the outset of the investigation, testimony had convinced him there is a "legitimate field of activity for the Federal Farm Board and the board-supported cooperatives" if the cooperatives "clean up the bad spots and the board is more businesslike in the administration of the agricultural marketing act."

Industry Insurance Inquiry Requested

Justice Department Quiz in Recent Rate Boost Is Sought.

An investigation by the Department of Justice into the recent increase of rates of workmen's compensation insurance in the District was asked yesterday.

The request was filed by Jerome Fanciulli, executive secretary of the Commercial Motor Vehicle Owners Association, and by George N. Walker, secretary of the Laundry-Dry Cleaning Owners Association.

Their contention is that the boost in rates was accomplished in a manner in violation of the antitrust laws.

STERLING, EVIDENTLY LOSER, SEES VICTORY

Beaten in Unofficial Count by Mrs. Ferguson, He Charges Wholesale Fraud.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Defeated on the unofficial count for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, Gov. R. W. Sterling tonight said there was no doubt he had obtained "a substantial majority of all the votes lawfully cast."

The governor's statement was issued at Austin, the State capital, shortly after the Texas election bureau announced it had ceased tabulating the vote in last Saturday's run-off primary with Mrs. Ferguson leading by 2,398 votes.

Returns from the 254 counties in the State, 251 complete, gave Mrs. Ferguson 476,750; Sterling, 474,352.

That he had obtained more votes for Governor of Texas than his opponent "will be conclusively demonstrated," the governor said.

"I will be declared the nominee for Governor of Texas in accordance with the orderly process of our primary election laws," he said.

"Reliable Information."

He declared his statement was based on "reliable information and advices from all over Texas."

The official count will be made Saturday, and collected by the election bureau. This count will be certified to the Texas State Democratic executive committee on September 12. The State convention, charged with declaring the official nominee, will receive the executive committee's report the next day.

The election bureau estimated the outstanding vote was about 150. If all should be cast for Sterling, the result would not be changed.

Gov. Sterling's statement was preceded by predictions of his friends that the election would be contested.

During the four days since the balloting in Texas' closest race, each of the candidates had remained silent except to predict their eventual success.

Tonight James E. Ferguson, husband of the State's first woman governor, again in the limelight by virtue of her strong race, said he and Mrs. Ferguson did not care to comment on the governor's statement.

Sterling Is Determined.

Ferguson, who preceded his wife as Governor of Texas, was impeached. She was elected after making a "vindication" campaign, but was refused a second term.

Previous to the run-off primary, Gov. Sterling asserted vote frauds had been perpetrated, and offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of illegal voters. No such law violations were reported, however.

Gov. Sterling in his statement said: "Jim Ferguson has charged that there were many thousands of illegal votes cast in this year's primaries, and his supporters are repeating similar charges. I believe that thousands of illegal votes were cast, and that gross errors occurred in the count, and I propose to leave nothing undone that is within my power to secure an honest ballot and an honest count, and to eliminate every unlawful vote cast in Texas."

"Having put my hand to the plow I will not turn back," he said. "The friends of good government may be of good cheer. I have been nominated and will be reelected governor."

3 Rescued Airmen Taken From Jungle

Marines Who Crashed in Nicaraguan Wilds Are Saved by Guardia.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Three Marine Corps airmen who crashed in a tropical storm 60 miles west of Bluefield nine days ago en route from Managua were rescued from the jungles today by a patrol of the Guardia Nacional under command of Lieut Theodore M. Stevens and were brought to Rama. The rescued men, Lieut. Clovis C. Coffman, Gunnery Sergt. Walter E. Scofield and Corporal Raymond R. Townsend, said they are none the worse for their experience.

Marine Corps planes, which have guided the rescue patrol and daily rationed the marooned airmen, conveyed the Marines to Bluefields this afternoon. These planes were under command of two of the Marine Corps aces, Lieuts. Hayne D. Boyden, of Statesville, N. C., and Pierson E. Conrad, of St. Louis.

Coffman's plane went into a spin before it crashed but he pulled it out. During a second spin, it was decided that the jungle was safer and Coffman and his two companions donned parachutes and jumped from an altitude of 3,500 feet.

Janitor Felled by Dioxide Fumes.

Harry Vass, 35, colored, janitor at 4701 Connecticut avenue northwest, was overcome by sulphur dioxide fumes which escaped from a refrigerating machine he was repairing in the apartment yesterday. The rescue squad gave the man first aid.

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH RIDICULED BY MOSES

Senator Calls Him "Nursery Rhyme Candidate" Because of Similes.

New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, tonight described Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, in an address tonight as a "nursery rhyme" candidate.

"Mother Goose material is all right up to a certain age," said Senator Moses in alluding to Gov. Roosevelt's recent Columbus Ohio, address. In that speech, Gov. Roosevelt drew upon the story of "Alice in Wonderland," for similes.

"It would seem," said Senator Moses, "that the Democrats have completely forgotten a congressional prerequisite for the Presidency, that a candidate must have reached a certain age. A birth certificate may have to be required soon from the Democratic candidate to determine if he has reached that age."

Senator Moses spoke at a Republican clambake here.

Prohibition is not a vital issue of the campaign, Senator Moses said. He declared, however, that "the Republican platform on prohibition is capable of being put into effect, while the Democratic platform is absolutely hopeless of achievement."

Attorney General Joseph E. Warner, another speaker, said the "forgotten man" of the present campaign was Alfred E. Smith.

"The man who drew 17,000,000 votes in the last election," said Warner. The man who made possible the election of a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, was so forgotten that Speaker John N. Garner couldn't answer the telephone when Smith called him during the convention to confirm rumors of the deal which was then pending."

TENSION IS EASING IN FARMERS' STRIKE

ago. Prices were strong to 10 cents higher.

James W. Whitley, president of the New York State Farmers Cooperative Union, said a similar embargo would be started near Mechanicville, N. Y., tomorrow.

The movement spread to Hancock County, Ill., but peaceful persuasion of farmers was used in lieu of picketing.

Cherokee, Iowa, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Fourteen picketing farmers suffered gunshot wounds shortly after last midnight when two automobiles, carrying nine men, raced through picket lines near here. The occupants threw tear gas bombs at the farmers and raced away.

Just as soon as the present situation clears, a delegation of farmers meeting near here today was told, investigation of the episode would be made. The farmers, in turn, asserted they would submit to the authorities all their evidence "to expedite solution of the case."

Officers, pending an investigation, refused to divulge all details of the trouble.

Governor's Eye on Situation.

Gov. Turner said, in Des Moines, he was keeping in touch with the Cherokee County situation and expected "local law enforcement officials to handle the situation through the deputizing of a sufficient number of men."

In a statement late today the governor dclared the highways would be kept open and "mob rule will not be tolerated." He called upon law enforcement officials to preserve order and addded "that unrestrained groups are taking unto themselves the authority of the law."

The situation on other fronts of the three-week-old struggle for better farm produce prices was by no means quiet. Other developments included:

Pickets again took stations to block highways near Omaha, after having been pushed back by Sheriff McDonald's deputies yesterday. Forty special deputies have been sworn to keep the roads open.

Will Get Warrants.

Sheriff E. R. Cooke, of Clinton County, Iowa, said he would obtain warrants for the arrest of pickets who last night stopped trucks near Clinton.

In Des Moines, members of the Des Moines Dairy Marketing Association voted overwhelmingly not to support the holiday.

A partial list of the Cherokee wounded named as victims: I. Paul Rippke, of Washta, bullet wound in side; Joe Dodge, of Kingsley, bullet wound in leg; Bert Sangwin, of Cherokee, leg wound; Lawrence Cavendish, of Cherokee, wound in hand; George Case, of Fielding, buckshot wounds; William Smith, of Marcus, buckshot wounds; Warren McQueen, of Washta, and John Cron, of Pierson, buckshot wounds. Dr. Wise did not disclose the names which were obtained from other sources.

Throw Eggs at Trucker.

Near Pierson, a crowd of farmers estimated at 500 to 750 gathered and stopped Harvey Harrison, who was taking a load of hogs to Pierson. The pickets argued with Harrison and later threw eggs at him. Harrison returned home and the crowd disbanded subsequently. Pierson people said they heard nothing of the rumored march on Cherokee.

Eleven truck loads of holiday adherents from Cherokee started out for Spencer this morning to help pickets there, but returned as soon as they heard of the local developments. About 100 Clay County farmers left with them.

In Saunders County, Nebr., Sheriff Mengel was asked to help live stock truckers get through picket lines to Omaha. State Sheriff Endres told Mengel to deputize more men, because the roads "had to be kept clear."

Dozens of trucks were stopped in Clinton County, in Southeast Iowa.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Drivers of 22 live stock trucks loaded with hogs, who attempted to run the farmers holiday blockade into Sioux City from Nebraska were turned back tonight on highway No. 20.

Nearly 200 farmers were reported to have stopped the fleet. A number of farmers and drivers were bruised.

Earl of Egmont Marries.

Calgary, Alberta, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The 19-year-old Earl of Egmont—Freddy Perceval to his cowboy friends—married today Ann Geraldine Moodie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Moodie.

Mellon Sails For England.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Andrew W. Mellon sailed for England tonight to return to his post as Ambassador to Great Britain.

SMITH AND BLEASE IN RUN-OFF SEPT. 13

Senator Increases His Lead; Taylor and Richards Apparent Victors.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Senator E. D. Smith had a lead of more than 17,000 votes over former Senator Cole L. Blease for the senatorial nomination with returns from fewer than 100 of the State's 1,445 precincts yet to be received tonight.

Smith, seeking his fifth six-year term, had received a total of 92,491 votes from 1348 precincts. The total for Blease from the same precincts was 74,932.

Ashton H. Williams, prohibition repeal advocate, had received 43,452, and Leon W. Harris, opposed to prohibition changes had 38,036.

Smith and Blease will meet in a run-off primary September 13.

Supports Repeal Plank.

Senator Smith committed himself to support of the national plank for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Blease opposed any change in the prohibition laws until after a referendum among the "white Democrats" of the State.

Congressional casualties, on the face of the unofficial returns, were Representatives Fred H. Dominick and W. S. Stephenson, who entered Congress in 1917 as members from the Third and Fifth Districts, respectively.

The nomination from the Third District was apparently won by John C. Taylor, former clerk of court of Anderson County, who had a comfortable margin over Dominick and the third candidate, D. A. G. Ouzts, of Greenwood.

With all except five of the district's 312 precincts tabulated, the vote was: Dominick, 18,078; Ouzts, 5,602; Taylor, 30,333. Taylor carried Dominick's home county, Newberry, 4,067 to 3,762.

Stevenson Trails By 2,000.

Stevenson was nearly 2,000 votes behind John P. Richards, Lancaster County probate judge and nephew of former Gov. John Richards.

Returns from all but four precincts of 219 in the district gave Richards 19,673, against 17,897 for Stevenson.

In the other districts where there were contests, the incumbents, Hampton P. Fulmer, in the second; John J. McSwain, in the fourth, and Allard H. Gasque, in the sixth, were renominated by substantial majorities.

Representative T. S. McMillan, of Charleston, was unopposed in the First District.

Bag With Papers Worth $14,000 Is Recovered

Baltimore, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Paul Haymond of Fairmount, W. Va., lost his brown leather bag, as he thought, from his car along the Hagerstown-Towson highway. The automobile of Elkran Ries, of Baltimore was stolen near a city hospital. In the machine, found late last night by police, was the bag.

The bag contained stock certificates valued at $4,000 and a $10,000 life insurance policy. How the bag got in the car, police did notknow.

Two Soldiers Convicted In Cab Driver Assault

Thomas Burrett and J. W. Galloway, soldiers stationed at Fort Myer, were convicted before Judge B. M. Hedrick yesterday in Arlington County Court on a charge of having assaulted Charles Riner, Washington taxi driver. Each was sentenced to six months on the State roads force. Their attorney, H. Bruce Green, noted an appeal. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

The soldiers were arrested in the Arlington National Cemetery by Park Policemen J. E. Shawhan and E. B. Cullember a short time after the assault on Riner near Radio Station in Arlington County.

Bailey to Take Over Bench Tomorrow.

A change in the serving justice of the District Supreme Court will be made tomorrow when Justice Jennings Bailey takes over the bench now occupied by Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue. Justice Bailey will be joined Tuesday by Justice Jesse C. Adkins, and the two of them will serve until Chief Justice Wheat and Justice Peyton Gordon take over the bench for the last half of September.

DOOLITTLE BREAKS LAND PLANE SPEED RECORD AT CLEVELAND

have been calibrated by the National Aeronautic Association and then homologated by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, in France, world governing body of sporting aviation.

Maj. Doolittle, grinning at the congratulations he received on landing, said he would try for the record with a paragraph as soon as there was an open space in the race program tomorrow.

"Everything went fine," he said. "I am having the propeller changed tonight—the only change that is planned. All we want is 10 to 15 miles an hour more. The ship behaved well and that's about all there is to say right now. This was just a practice hop today."

The 35-year-old California-born flier from St. Louis, in eclipsing the record during the sun's eclipse achieved what American pilots came closest to doing last year when the late Lowell Bayles surpassed the world record, but by a smaller margin than the 4.97 miles an hour required by aviation rules.

Maj. Doolittle became a pilot in 1917 when he left the University of California to enlist in the Army. His first big achievement occurred in 1922 when he made the first transcontinental crossing of the country in less than 24 hours. In 1925 he won the Schneider Cup race at Baltimore, Md., attaining a speed of 232 miles an hour in his seaplane and a straightaway speed mark of 245 miles an hour.

In today's speed conquest he reached the highest speed on his second dash over the course when he averaged 296.151 miles an hour. His first lap was measured at 294.462 miles an hour, and the remaining two at 290.259 and 291.900 miles an hour.

The fore-shortened mount in which he made his speed conquest is powered by an 800-horse power air-cooled engine and was the ship which Russell Boardman had planned to fly in the national air races.

Six cross-country fliers frow Hemlock Airport, near Rochester, N. Y., held an impromptu derby which was won by R. P. Hylan. Charles Smith, of Cleveland, nosed out Roy Hunt, of Norman, Okla., winner of the National Sweepstakes Derby, in a 21-mile closed course race by .237 miles an hour. Smith's average was 102.294.

Earlier, the 200-mile-an-hour mark was surpassed twice in straightaway dashes by B. O. Howard, Chicago-Kansas City mail pilot, and by Robert L. Hall, of Springfield, Mass.

Lieut. Andrea Zotti, Italy's member of the foreign team, took the stunt-flying honors in a dazzling array of inverted maneuvers.

A crack-up nearly marred the 80-mile free-for-all for ships with motors of not more than 800-cubic-inch piston displacement, won handily by Ray Moore, of San Francisco, in a low-wing racer. Louis Bowen, of Omaha, had the narrow escape when he had difficulty getting Gordon Israel's tiny home-built ship into the air. The plane swerved about precariously, and at the end of the third lap was forced to withdraw.

Moore lapped all of the field but Ben O. Howard, of Chicago; Roy Liggett, of Wichita, Kans., and John Livingston, of Aurora, Ill., who finished in that order. His average speed for the sixteen 5-mile laps was 182.5 miles an hour.

Doug Davis, of Atlanta, Ga., paced a field of nine ships in the second Ohio "Mystery" Derby, finishing first at Lorain, Ohio, with an elapsed time of 3:03.

With James Haizlip, the Ferguson, Mo., flier who Monday broke his transcontinental speed record, and James Wedell, of New Orleans, Doolittle made formal application to try for the world's land-plane record tomorrow or Friday.

Steel Head Tells Hoover of Outlook

Abbott Declares 680,000 Men Can Be Given Employment.

(Associated Press.)

After a conference at the White House, Charles F. Abbott, director of the American Institute of Steel Construction, said yesterday he had told President Hoover a survey by the institute showed $1,232,196,000 in possible self liquidating projects that should be considered in any building program.

Abbott estimated these various projects would afford employment to 680,000 men. He said he told Mr. Hoover the survey had convinced him business was on the upgrade and that business men felt if the administration program was continued there would be continued impromevent. He added that he believed people generally felt if there was a change in administration the program might not be continued.

Abbott said he had objected to the heavy importation of foreign steel, contending it had already cost workmen approximately $3,000,000 in wages.

Hoover Requested Roosevelt's Action

President Suggested That He Remain in Philippines to Handle Problems.

(Associated Press.)

White House aids said yesterday that President Hoover had personally suggested to Gov. Theodore Roosevelt that he remain at his Philippines post rather than return to this country to take an active part in the campaign. At the same time a high administration spokesman explained that Roosevelt's plans to return to the United States had been made after a request had been sent to him by the managers of the President's reelection drive.

Campaign leaders assumed, it was said, that Roosevelt would desire to come back since he had taken part in every campaign since 1920. It was explained these leaders were not cognizant of the immediate problems in the Philippines.

When the Chief Executive learned that Roosevelt had indicated it might not be advisable for him to return, but had planned to do so at the request of campaign leaders, he ordered Secretary Hurley to cable a countermand of the previous suggestions that Roosevelt come.

BERLIN SEEKS ARMY BANNED BY TREATY

yesterday, were attempting to obtain an immediate audience with President von Hindenburg for the purpose of attempting to convince him that the legislature was able to carry on parliamentary government.

Immediate audience was requested by Speaker Hermann Wilhelm Goering, a member of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party, in a telegram sent to the president's home in Neudeck in East Prussia. The aged field marshal replied that next week, when he will be in Berlin, would be time enough for this conference. Government circles interpreted the reply as a rebuff to the Nazi speaker.

One of the chancellor's closest collaborators was authority for the statement that Herr von Papen intends to proceed as though Herr Hitler no longer were a political factor.

The chancellor, it was explained, gave the Nazi chieftain two big chances—on August 13 he offered to recommend to the president that Hitler be made vice chancellor and premier of Prussia, and at their famous luncheon August 29 he pleaded with Hitler to bury the hatchet and help reconstruct the fatherland.

Hitler refused both times and now Chancellor von Papen intends simply to ignore him, this collaborator asserted.

SHORTRIDGE TRAILS WET IN CALIFORNIA

McAdoo Is Winner by Big Margin in Democratic Senatorial Primary.

San Francisco, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—A contest in November between the veteran, William Gibbs McAdoo and Tallant Tubbs, of San Francisco, newcomer in national Republican politics, for the California senatorship appeared certain tonight.

The seat has been held for twelve years by Samuel M. Shortridge, who, on the basis of almost complete, unofficial returns from yesterday's primary, apparently had been defeated by Tubbs.

McAdoo leaped into the lead at the outset for the Democratic senatorial nomination and emerged victor by an overwhelming vote over his closest opponent, Justus S. Wardell, of San Francisco. About the two had raged a bitter factional fight, echoing from the May presidential primary when McAdoo headed the victorious Garner delegation and Wardell the unsuccessful Roosevelt slate.

Tubbs Repeal Advocate.

Taking the lead early in the count when San Francisco County, with its heavy wet vote, gave him a handsome majority, Tubbs, advocate of immediate repeal of the eighteenth amendment, never was headed by the veteran Shortridge. His lead, which had been running around 22,000, dipped below 20,000 late today, however, as the Los Angeles County returns neared completion.

Shortridge was running third and Tubbs fourth in Los Angeles County. Two drys, the Rev. Robert P. Shuler, crusading minister of Los Angeles, and Representative Joe Crail were in first and second places, respectively, in the southern county.

With returns from 9,998 complete precincts out of 10,531 the standing in the Republican senatorial contest was: Tubbs, 202,887; Shortridge, 183,981; Crail, 163,116; Shuler, 156,581; Leo V. Youngworth, 50,273.

Democratic Results.

Returns from the same precincts gave the following in the Democratic contest: McAdoo, 230,478; Wardell, 108,091; Shuler, 67,566; Maurice J. McCarthy, 18,173; Parson M. Abbott, 11,715; Annie Riley Hale, 7,029.

Only one congressional contest involving an incumbent was in doubt. In the Ninth District Representative Henry E. Barbour, of Fresno, was running slightly behind Glenn M. De Vore, Fresno County district attorney, for the Republican nomination.

Returns from 501 precincts out of 525 in the district gave De Vore 10,208; Barbour, 10,030; Lewis L. Dennett, 7,355, and Ernest Klette, 4,798.

Coroner's Jury Blames Driver of Death Car

Edward Buckler, of Baltimore, who was killed in an automobile accident on the Baltimore boulevard August 4, "came to his death through the negligence of the driver of the car in which he was riding," a coroner's jury found last night.

Buckler and Milton Bender, also of Baltimore, were both passengers in a car which struck a parked machine near Ammendale, but police have not yet determined which was driving. Bender is still in a Baltimore hospital suffering from the effects of the accident. The coroner's jury was impaneled by Magistrate George S. Phillips, of Berwyn.

Housewives Complain Of Tadpoles From Taps

Philadelphia, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Complaining Roxborough housewives, who said they got both water and tiny tadpoles through their water faucets, today asked water bureau employes to investigate the possible causes.

In response to complaints, water bureau workmen last night opened every fire plug in the neighborhood, and after an hour succeeded in draining away most of the tadpoles, which some residents declared appeared at the rate of about six to the tumbler.

Gen. Patrick Asks Fisher to Resign

Request Is Aftermath of Woman's Death in Secretary's Apartment.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, yesterday requested the resignation of Earl V. Fisher, executive secretary, and the commission at a special meeting accepted it. No successor has yet been chosen, although several applications are being considered.

The resignation came as an aftermath of the death of Mrs. Margaret McKinney McKay, secretary to Gen. Patrick, in the apartment of Mr. Fisher last week. Since that time Mr. Fisher has been excused from his duties as executive secretary.

Mr. Fisher had held the post of executive secretary since August 16, 1924. Prior to that time he was chief accountant of the commission. Shortly after the war he was with the Federal Housing Corporation.

ULTIMATUM IS GIVEN ECUADOREAN REBELS

Renewed Bombardment Will Follow Failure of Quito Troops to Surrender.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The Bonifaz rebels at Quito were tendered an ultimatum tonight to lay down their arms without reservations or suffer a renewed bombardment by the Federals.

Alberto Martinez, president of the senate, reported from loyalist headquarters on the scene that the federals had offered the mutinous troops in Bolivar barracks another truce through the intervention of the Diplomatic Corps.

The morale of the loyalist army is splendid and, no matter by what means, they will occupy this city either by a new offensive or by capitulation," he telegraphed.

"The civil populace has been suffering from lack of water, milk, meat and lights and by disruption of communications."

Revolt Again Flares Up.

The ultimatum was issued after the revolt had flared up again today at Quito as the federals and the rebels disagreed over the terms of an armistice.

The government had announced in advices from the capital that the insurgents had accepted all their demands and that the loyalists would enter the city today without resistance. This optimism was not borne out.

The rebel command, fighting to install Neptali Bonifaz in the presidency, later insisted they be given a general amnesty if they laid down their arms, dispatches said, and the federals replied they must surrender unconditionally.

Consequently, the insurrectionists still were holding their positions in the Bolivar barracks overlooking the city tonight, and they were said to be determined to resist indefinitely.

500 Have Been Killed.

Firing was renewed on a smaller scale during the day and continued intermittently until the middle of the afternoon. The action was not as heavy as that which had occurred in the previous four days with an estimated mortality list of 500 and a much higher number of other casualties.

The engineer and conductor of a train bringing federal reinforcements to Quito were among three persons killed when troops aboard exchanged shots with a mob of 1,000 civilians who were attempting to block the train's passage. Many others were wounded as the train sped on.

It was unofficially reported that foreign diplomats in Quito, who include American Minister William Dawson, conferred with Acting President Baquerizo Moreno with a view to establishing a truce. He has taken refuge in the Argentine legation.

Army Investigates Peonage Charges

Negro Workers on Mississippi Flood Control Held to Be Victims.

(Associated Press.)

The War Department said yesterday it had ordered an investigation of charges by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that Negro workers in Mississippi River flood control construction camps were working virtually in a state of peonage.

Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of Army Engineers, said on orders from Secretary Hurley he had instructed Brig. Gen. Harley D. Ferguson, president of the Mississippi River Commission, to make the inquiry.

This is the second inquiry within about fifteen months to be authorized by the department as a result of complaints that the workers were made by contractors to labor twelve hours daily, seven days a week and were paid extremely low wages. The current investigation, Gen. Brown said, resulted from a number of complaints by the Negro organization.

Wood Tells Hoover Of Indiana's Boom

Asserts Small Businesses Throughout State Are Enjoying Upturn.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said after a talk with President Hoover yesterday that people in Indiana seemed "to realize that business is picking up" and were asking themselves whether they could better conditions by a change of administration.

"There has been more business at Gary, Ind., than in eighteen months past," he said. "Small businesses throughout the State are better off than for a long time. Farmers are not getting as high prices as they want, but they, too, seem to realize that business is on the upturn."

Wood said it was too early yet to make any reliable forecast of the outcome of the congressional campaign, but added that if Mr. Hoover should be reelected by a substantial majority he felt that most of the congressional districts would follow. He said the Republicans would gain sixteen seats through the redistricting of the recent census.

Capone Henchman Is Slain in Chicago

Business Agent of Bakers' Group Shot Down in His Hotel Room.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Believed by police to have been a gangster's victim, Charles Argento, about 35, business agent for the Italian Master Bankers' Association, was shot to death in his hotel room today. Police said he was a reputed member of the Al Capone gang.

Shortly after Argento fell, four bullet holes in his body, Julius Anschell, 35, association bookkeeper, voluntarily appeared at police headquarters and said he and James de George, field agent for the association, were in the room when the killing occurred.

Anschell said Argento opened the door and as they walked in four shots sounded back of them. They turned, he said, to see Argento dying on the floor. He insisted neither of them saw the killer or killers.

The Business Upturn

Inquiries About Products of Chicago Area Increase More Than Third in Three Weeks; Paint Company to Spend Millions to Boost Trade.

Business developments over the Nation yesterday, according to the Associated Press, included:

Chicago.—Inquiries received by the Chicago Association of Commerce for products manufactured in this district increased more than 35 per cent in the last three weeks, it was announced today. The trend covered all lines of merchandise.

Chicago.—The Sherwin-Williams Paint Co. is preparing to launch a $1,000,000 advertising campaign, George A. Martin, president, announced. He said the firm would also expend several million dollars on raw materials.

Champaign, Ill.—With deposits of $1,990,919, the First National Bank here, a reorganization of the institution of the same name which closed last January, opened for business today.

New York.—The National Electric Light Association reported a slight increase in electric power production for the week ended August 27—the first time a gain has been recorded in that week since 1929. Total kilowatt hours produced during the period were 1,436,440,000, against 1,431,910,000 in the preceding week.

Chicago.—The motion picture business throughout the country has been improving for four consecutive weeks, Adolph Zukor, president of the Paramount-Publix Corporation, told 300 exhibitors here.

New York.—A $2,500,000 improvement program designed to increase employment has been approved by the Sinclair Refining Co., subsidiary of Consolidated Oil Corporation. The program is to be carried out at refineries in Argentine, and at Coffeyville, Kans.; East Chicago, Ill.; Houston, Tex., and Marcus Hook, N. J.

New York.—The Iron Age composite price for heavy smelting steel is now $1 a ton above its low point for the year, having advanced to $7.42 from $7 a week ago.

VETERANS' EVICTION SCORED BY V. F. W.

President's Calling Out of Troops on Unarmed Men Strongly Attacked.

Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—President Hoover's use of the United States Army last July to evacuate "bonus marchers" and their families from Washington, D. C., was condemned in a resolution adopted by Veterans of Foreign Wars national encampment here today.

The resolution concluded with "whereas the veteran's strongest weapon of defense is the ballot, therefore be it resolved:

"That the thirty-third national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars makes solemn protest against the unnecessary use of the Army and in order that the American public may become dramatically aware of this organization's attitude that posts possessing clubhouses be urged to mount sand bags and post a military guard from now until November so that the Washington evacuation begun in July may be fully completed in November."

Introduced by New Yorker.

Joseph Carl Thomson, past State commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars in New York, introduced the resolution and afterward explained that the reference to the Washington evacuation was intended to refer to officials responsible for the July action.

The resolution was couched in what Thomson referred to in his introduction as "strong language."

"As soon as Congress had adjourned," the resolution read, "the President of the United States summoned the United States Army to rout and maim a pitiful and inoffensive crowd of ragged and unarmed bonusers."

Use of Tanks Is Cited.

The Army use of "charging cavalry, drawn sabers, fixed bayonets, with guns loaded and ready to shoot, with tanks (whose use the United States would prohibit in times of war) against men with no arms, men loyal to the United States, men, women and children, weakened by hunger and unemployment," was characterized as "unnecessary, criminally brutal, uncalled for and morally indefensible."

Thomson told the convention this resolution had the sponsorship of Veterans of Foreign Wars posts of State commanders of Minnesota, North Dakota, Washington, D. C., Pennsylvania, Texas, Indiana, Louisiana and Kansas City. Others sought to sponsor it after its introduction.

The convention spent most of the day hearing committee recommendations or resolutions pertaining to pensions, urging repeal of the eighteenth amendment and immediate repeal of the Volstead act, and abolition of the "lame duck" Congress.

Team of Oxen Carries Invitation to President

(Associated Press.)

A team of oxen plodded its leisurely way through the White House grounds yesterday bearing President Hoover an invitation to a Shenandoah pageant at Harrisonburg, Va.

President Hoover shook hands with George Edwards, driver of the team, and remarked that he probably was one of the very few men who still know how to handle such a team.

"Could you drive them, Mr. President?" he was asked.

"It has been a long time since I tried," he replied.

RICHMOND FREDERICKSBURG & POTOMAC R. R.

DEMOCRATS DONATE $32,500 IN FIVE DAYS

Most of Gifts Held Direct Result of Plea by Leaders, Including Roosevelt.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—From about 3,000 Democrats scattered across the country, the Roosevelt-Garner campaign managers have received contributions of $32,500 during the last five days, it was announced at the finance committee office in Democratic national headquarters tonight.

Two thousand five hundred letters containing a total of $9,835.63 were braced directly, headquarters said, to the Nation-wide appeal for funds made last week by Gov. Roosevelt, National Chairman James A. Farley and the finance committee chairmen.

The average of these cotributions was a little less than $4 each.

From several hundred others came large contributions totaling nearly $23,000. While most of these also were described as having been a result of the fund appeal, the letters did not so state.

Farley and the finance committee have set $1,500,000 as the amount they will probably need to run the campaign.

Nearly every one of the letters containing money or checks received at the Democratic headquarters also inclosed some campaign suggestions or reports of Democratic progress in various sections of the country, it was announced.

The campaign suggestions are being studied closely by Farley's aids, who said they expected to get much help from them.

UNEMPLOYMENT AID IS CUT 40 PER CENT

$350,000 Fund Held Sure to Be Exhausted Before Congress Meets.

The special unemployment relief distribution, which has been under way since August 1, was ordered reduced 40 per cent yesterday by the committee of the Board of Public Welfare in charge of the $350,000 fund.

If the same scale of dissemination continues, it was pointed out, the fund would be exhausted before the next session of Congress. The committee, although cognizant of the fact that the present relief meets only the bare living needs of only about half the applicants for positions, declared that efforts must be made to curtail distribution until more funds can be requested.

The problem of making the reduction was left to Leroy A. Halbert, director of the fund. It is almost certain that either the wages, which are 5 cents an hour, or the number of hours of employment will be reduced.

Up until last Saturday night $39,597.14 of the fund had been spent, and yet only 3,864 applications for relief out of a total of 7,114 have been investigated. The relief headquarters at the old Metropolitan Methodist Church, John Marshall place and C street, has been so swamped within the past fortnight that many applicants have been required to make a second visit before they could be reached.

100 Will Grow Beards To Aid Pioneer Fete

Enid, Okla., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—If Enid barbers fail to evince the proper civic enthusiasm for the celebration planned for September 16 and 17 to mark the thirty-ninth anniversary of the opening of the Cherokee strip to settlement, it's because of business reasons.

More than 100 business men have signed a pledge to let their beards grow for two weeks preceding the celebration—to add pioneer atmosphere to the event—and they hope to increase their number to 1,000.

Gen. Dawes' Bank To Be Reorganized

President Denies Central Republic Will Bear Name of Founder.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Negotiations are proceeding, it was announced today, for a reorganization of the operations of the Central Republic Bank & Trust Co., of which Charles Gates Dawes is chairman of the board.

Philip R. Clarke, president of the bank, declared "absolutely absurd," however, reports that the Central Republic would be reorganized soon as the Dawes Bank & Trust Co.

The former Vice President and Ambassador to England was indisposed at his home today and did not appear at the bank, which he founded 30 years ago.

MRS. M'CORMICK'S KIN TO ACCEPT WILL

Lawyer Says That None of Three Children Plans to Contest Testament.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Attorney Charles S. Cutting, who drew half a dozen wills for the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick, said today her three children would not contest her final deathbed decision although it bequeathed them a bare majority of her estate.

The attorney brought Fowler McCormick, eldest child and only son of the late leader of Chicago society, into probate court to prove heirship.

Cutting answered "no" to a question as to whether Fowler and his sisters, Muriel McCormick Hubbard and Mathilde McCormick Oser, would contest the will.

Recently filed for probate, it bequeathed five-twelfths of their mother's estate to Edwin D. Krenn, the constant companion and business adviser of her last eleven years.

"I drew up six or seven wills for Mrs. McCormick," Cutting said. "None of them has any standing but the last one, executed August 4, three weeks before she died. Krenn was mentioned in every one of them."

"How much was Mr. Krenn willed?" he was asked.

"I don't know," he said. "Probably about $1,000,000."

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

CUSTER'S LAST STAND
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the great painter of the American Indian, N. C. Wyeth... inspired by the massacre of Custer's dauntless band at Little Big Horn, Montana, by the savage Sioux Indians, June 25, 1876.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

They are not present in Luckies—the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

DEFENDERS BECOME ATTACKERS AT CAMP

Twenty-ninth Division Staff Also Is Given Artillery and Aerial Lessons.

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Pollard, Virginia Beach, Va., Aug. 31.—The officers of the Twenty-ninth Division Staff, in training at Camp Pollard, reversed their position today by acting as the division staff of the "Red" forces, attacking the coast line in the vicinity of Virginia Beach. After a lecture on the organization and use of the artillery in battle, delivered by Maj. L. McD. Sylvester, U. S. Army, and a talk on communications by Lieut. Col. Herbert L. Grymes, division signal officer, the staff proceeded to plan the attack.

In the afternoon Lieut. Col. William D. Tipton, Baltimore division aviation officer, took several officers on aerial reconnaissance flight. Other officers went to the rifle range to fire the record with the automatic rifle.

The Military Police Company of the Twenty-ninth Division of Washington were addressed yesterday afternoon by S. W. Ironmonger, chief of police of Norfolk and a lieutenant colonel of the National Guard, on the specialized duties of the military police and the connections between the military police and the civil authorities in times of stress. He also spoke on the various methods of dispersing mobs, breaking riots and the use of modern weapons in police work. For the past ten days the company has had a series of lectures on many military subjects, including military courtesy, mapping, aerial photography and antiaircraft weapons.

This series has been conducted under the direction of Sergts. George Garland, Julius Morris, H. G. Skinner and Robert F. Nicholson, all of Washington. The organization is commanded by Lieut. Merrill D. Reich, of Washington, in civil life an accountant in the United States Senate.

Kreuger's Housekeeper Named as Love Thief

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Hilda Aberg, housekeeper for the late Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match magnate, has been named corespondent in a divorce suit by Mrs. Iola Sundstedt, court action disclosed today.

The supreme court denied Mrs. Sundstedt's application for $300 a week alimony and $10,000 counsel fees, on the ground of insufficient proof of her charges against her husband, Capt. Hugo S. Sundstedt.

32 Ministers to Quit Aimee Hutton's Church

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Thirty-two ministers of the Iowa and Minnesota division have voted to withdraw from the International Church of the Four-Square Gospel, the Rev. John R. Richey, divisional officer, announced today.

The ministers also decided to break all affiliations with Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, leader of the denomination, Richey said.

Nellie Floyd Culler, Educator, Is Dead

Long Illness Is Fatal to Gunston Hall Teacher; Rites Today.

Miss Nellie Floyd Culler, for many years an instructor in French and vocal culture at Gunston Hall, died yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Wood, wife of Brig. Gen. W. S. Wood, at the Kenesaw apartments, Sixteenth and Irving streets northwest, after a long illness.

The daughter of the late Martin L. Culler, a prominent clergyman in Philadelphia, Miss Culler was educated in France. She is survived by her sister.

Private funeral services will be held at the S. H. Hines funeral home today. Burial will be in Mercersburg, Pa.

REV. R. E. WHITE FUNERAL.

Will Be at Metropolitan Baptist Church at 3:30 Today.

Funeral services for the Rev. Robert E. White, who died Tuesday from a heart attack believed to have been brought on by the heat, will be held at the Metropolitan Baptist Church at 3:30 o'clock today. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie L. White; two sons, Robert and Wallace White; five daughters, Mrs. R. B. Guest, Mrs. R. B. Morgan, Margaret, Constance and Eunice White, and three sisters, Mrs. Albert Rudd, Mrs. J. L. Vest and Mrs. I. H. Athey.

He was pastor of Ashburn and Mount Hope Churches, in Loudoun County, Va., at the time of his death. His home was at 3114 Eighteenth street northwest.

Foreign News in Brief

Shanghai, China, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Eleven hundred persons have been drowned at Tungkun in the province of Kwangtung, 50 miles east of Canton, since Sunday as a result of a flood of the Tung River, Chinese dispatches reported today. Only the city wall prevented complete submersion of the city, the report said.

Shanghai, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Rumors that Japan was increasing her naval strength at Shanghai as circulated in Chinese newspapers brought a sweeping denial from the Japanese consulate today. The denial said no ships whatever had been ordered to Shanghai.

Manchester, England, Aug. 31 (A.P.). The third day of the Lancashire textile strike today showed both sides standing firm with 145,000 operatives, as estimated by trade unions, participating in the walkout. The number of strikers was swelled yesterday, and strike officials said complete stoppage of the textile industry by the end of the week was expected. The Lancashire weavers walked out in protest against a 10 per cent wage cut and working conditions.

Moscow, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The Lytton commission, which was twice refused cooperation by the Soviet government in its investigation of the Manchurian problem for the League of Nations, is returning to Geneva across Siberia and, it was learned today, probably will stop here for several days. As a nonmember of the league, Soviet Russia can not receive the commission officially, but it is understood the members will be given complete liberty to visit Moscow as tourists and to ascertain from unofficia sources the opinion in Soviet Russia of its investigation.

Havana, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Passengers arriving today on the steamer Morro Castle from New York said they went without food or sleep for 36 hours while the vessel battled he huge waves off the Florida coast caused by the West Indian tropical storm.

Tokyo, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The ministry of communications announced today that the rate of interest on postal savings will be reduced from 4.2 per cent to 3 per cent on October 1.

The announcement came closely after the yen dropped on the New York exchange below 25 cents. Normally it is quoted at 50 cents.

Venice, Italy, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Ernest Williams Roche, 40, of Philadelphia, representative of a Chicago electrical firm, was shot in the back and gravely wounded at the Lido last night by a man who, he said, was attempting to rob him. An operation was performed and the bullet was removed from Roche's spinal column.

11,400,000 Jobless, Green Estimates

Calls for Shorter Working Hours to Forestall Catastrophe.

(Associated Press.)

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in a statement yesterday that while unemployment stopped increasing in August it had now reached the peak figure of 11,400,000 and the only way the situation could be met was to "shorten work hours, create jobs and get men back to work."

The federation president predicted 13,000,000 may be out of work by winter and said "jobs must be created by the million if we are to avoid an unparalleled catastrophe."

"Normally industry begins in August to prepare for the fall busy season, and workers are taken back to their jobs. This year jobs have not increased, * * * Our present unemployment problem, and that we must face for next winter, is beyond anything we have yet known. We can only meet it by taking immediate action to shorten work hours, create jobs and get men back to work."

U. S. Gains $10,353,600 Gold.

Telegraphic Dispatches

Salina, Kans., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Commencing tomorrow persons who have automobiles will have to surrender their license tags to the Red Cross before they can receive further aid from that organization here, it was announced today. When the car-owners feel able to resume buying their own groceries, the tags will be returned to them.

Atlanta, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Evidence that mastodons roamed the forests of Georgia in prehistoric times has been discovered by a Bartow County farmer, J. H. Abernethy, of Kenesaw. He brought a large tooth to the office of Dr. S. W. McCallie, State geologist, which the latter identified as that of a mastodon, possibly of the Pleistocene stage, which scientists generally agree closed 20,000 to 50,000 years ago. Dr. McCallie said the tooth is the second found in the vicinity of Atlanta.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The will of Alfred M. Maurer, an artist who hanged himself in his apartment August 4, was filed today. He divided his estate of "more than $10,000" into four equal parts, giving three to a sister who lived with him and one to his nephew, Alfred L. Maurer, of Los Angeles.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Mrs. Leola Durham, 25, and Lawrence Panell, 30, teachers at a rural school at Woodall, Okla., were kidnaped from their class rooms today by three roughly dressed men who later released them unharmed and fled in the woman's automobile. The abduction apparently was for the sole purpose of stealing the car.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Max Ettinger, a promotor of Florida real estate enterprises during the boom years of 1924-27, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy here today. He listed liabilities at $1,753,018 and no assets.

Junction City, Kans., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Sixty men have been recalled to work on a 5-day week basis at the Union Pacific Railroad shops, which will reopen tomorrow.

Linden, N. J., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Four workmen were killed and two injured when a Pennsylvania Railroad fast passenger train plowed through a road gang today. Police said they understood the train rounded a curve and plowed into the laborers, who were deafened by the roar of another train.

Son of Lincoln Cabinet Man Dies.

POST WANT ADS PAY

Dangerous Business

When will these bargains be paid for? By whom? With what?

WILL CAR OWNERS pay with life and limb for the "bargains" that crowd today's tire racks? Not if they know the truth!

When a struggle for business puts price first, something has to be taken out. Different from almost all other merchandise, when you take quality out of a tire you take out safety—with human life at stake.

When will these "bargains" be paid for? All too soon—and tire failures that cripple and kill will fix the final cost.

On a 25 mile-an-hour tire 40, 50 or 60 is dangerous!

"Built to a price", these brands are unsafe at over 25 miles an hour—yet are trusted up to 60 and better by their innocent users.

General—for 16 years—never has had a temptation great enough to swerve it from its policy of building only Top Quality tires. Generals always were worth the difference in price. Today—with the low cost of raw materials—there is all the more reason for every motorist to demand quality, because the price difference is practically negligible.

General's sales up 17.6 percent —proof that people want quality

Think of this! Full time production. Sales going up. Six months' sales 17.6% ahead of the same period last year. A real testimonial for the value which thinking car owners place upon their safety.

They know the exclusive advantages of General's patented no-breaker-strip construction—full-length plies from bead to bead—blowout-proof and skid-safe protection—the luxurious comfort of 30% less air pressure—and the economy of General's famous big mileage.

Insurance statistics

152,732 persons killed in only 5 years of automobile accidents.

66,100 killed and injured by cars leaving road.

51,720 killed and injured by skidding.

$2,500,000,000 property loss each year—exceeding total cost of public school education.

That means a cost of $20 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Caution

Be certain to always have your best tires on your front wheels. If a front tire "blows" when you are going 60 you have only 1/44th part of a second to act. Only a flash . . . and no one can keep a car headed straight with a flat balloon. At any speed a blowout is too great a risk to take.

THE FARM BLOCKADE.

While Senator Brookhart stands off at a safe distance cheering, a handful of farmers at Cherokee, Iowa, are risking their lives in a crazy effort to raise the prices of farm produce by force. Blood has been shed, and the situation may be regarded as critical. More farmers are hurrying to the scene. Apparently both the strikers and the independent producers who wish to take their crops to market are prepared to engage in disorder and fighting to gain their objectives.

In various other parts of Iowa and near Omaha farmers are trying to withhold by force all crops from the market until prices are high enough to yield a reasonable profit. It is a pitiful movement. The farmers are trying to fight economic law by means of picketing. One can sympathize with their crude efforts to take the law of supply and demand into their own hands, but when a man who is serving in the United States Senate encourages them to engage in disorder and open fighting in their hopeless quest, public patience is exhausted. The answer of Senator Brookhart to his recent defeat in the Iowa senatorial primaries is more extreme fanaticism, as if he wished to confirm the wisdom of the Iowa electorate.

While Iowa farmers are thus wasting their energies in dangerous but futile efforts at price-fixing, the index of farm prices is steadily gaining. The Department of Agriculture reports that prices received for farm commodities were two points higher on August 15 than on July 15. Since June farm prices have moved up seven points.

Without question the return to the farmer for his crops is still too low. But there has been continued improvement in cotton, corn, potato, egg and milk prices. Wheat, rye, butter and wool prices have advanced substantially. This steady improvement offers much encouragement to the farmer.

A phenomenal rise in prices would probably bring further distress by stimulating uneconomic production. The agricultural situation can not be improved by picketing any more than it can by quack legislation in Washington. Hope for the farmer lies in building up from the present low level on a sound economic basis. The sooner he can throw off the spell of Brookhartism and get rid of quack advisers who would substitute bounties and shotgun price-fixing for business methods, the sooner he will be on the road to profitable operation.

SKY GAZERS.

Not many centuries ago an eclipse of the sun sent fear and consternation into the hearts of all who observed it. When the sun went dark in daylight hours primitive man made offerings to his gods to avert disaster. It was a sight to make fear the end of the world.

Yesterday millions turned out to watch through darkened glass the body of the moon glide between the earth and the sun and cast its penumbra across the broad belt in Eastern America. No one was alarmed at the phenomenon. On the contrary, it attracted widespread interest as a manifestation of cosmic law. The layman experiences a peculiar sensation from watching the earth darken and the sun diminish to a crescent. But scientific knowledge has turned fear to curiosity and interest. Incantations and mysticism have given way to study, investigation and research.

Only the trained scientist can hope to add to the world's knowledge by observation of the eclipse, yet the intense interest in yesterday's celestial event suggests that the public may learn more from this event than the scientists. The interests of science are specific; those of the public, general. The man on the street has no opportunity to investigate the nature of the corona, but he becomes aware of the fact that celestial bodies move in majestic order. He takes note of the fact that astronomers can predict with exactness the time of the eclipse and the path in which the shadow of the moon will completely obscure the sun. On occasions like this scientific knowledge, rudimentary though it may be, becomes the property of the average man and woman who would otherwise take no thought of cosmic phenomena.

The scientists may learn much or little from this eclipse, but the widespread public interest manifested will certainly spur them on to more intense study of the heavens. The solar system as well as the earth is slowly yielding up its secrets. Human curiosity demands more knowledge about the stars, the moon and the distant nebulae. These demands will be translated into more research and more study. Progress is slow, but each succeeding generation takes up the work where the last generation leaves off. Doubtless there is a limit beyond which the research of man can not penetrate, but on this side of the unknowable man can expand his knowledge enormously. Eclipses help to reveal the physical constituents of the sun, and thus science may discover new elements which can be made useful. Man may never measure the universe, but he may succeed in discovering whether some of the planets sustain animal life.

TUBBS VS. McADOO.

Tallant Tubbs, a California State senator, has won the Republican nomination for the United States Senate against Senator Samuel M. Shortridge. William G. McAdoo easily won the nomination on the Democratic side.

Senator Shortridge until recently was a dry, but before the Republican national convention he advocated resubmission of the eighteenth amendment. When the national platform was presented he stood squarely upon it, and fought manfully for the plank dealing with the liquor question. Tubbs based his campaign upon a demand for outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Local considerations entered into the contest, and it can not be said that the choice of Republicans hinged entirely upon the attitude of candidates on the liquor question.

Mr. McAdoo personified the dry side of Democracy in the historic fight against Al Smith at Madison Square Garden in 1924. But Mr. McAdoo had no difficulty in accepting the mandate of the national platform demanding repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He made little or no reference to liquor during his campaign. He criticised the Hoover administration, blaming it for failure to take more effective steps to end the depression.

California's vote in November will be of national interest. The primary of Tuesday gives no line on the attitude of Republicans toward the Hoover administration. Mr. Shortridge was not in any sense an "administration candidate." The increase in Democratic registration indicates that the enormous Hoover majority of 1928 will be reduced, but the State is normally strongly Republican.

"MA" FERGUSON AGAIN.

Indications are that Texas again faces the dilemma of a Ferguson regime. When Gov. Ross Sterling defeated the Ferguson pair two years ago it was taken for granted that Texas had had enough of horse play in the executive mansion. Gov. Sterling was elected on the issue of anti-Fergusonism. He has given the State an efficient and business-like administration wholly unlike that of his predecessor. But other factors entered into the primary contest and gave former Gov. "Ma" Ferguson a majority of nearly 2,000 votes in the unofficial count.

Texas is often freakish in politics. It is well known that a sentimental appeal to the so-called underdog is often more effective in the Lone Star State than is a record for service of a non-spectacular nature. Texas loves to reward the opportunist who tickles the ears of her cowpunchers and farmers. Even quacks do not lack a following if they know the rules of Texas politics. The public may be surprised at the large vote polled by the Fergusons, but close students of Lone Star politics will consider it a normal performance in view of economic conditions.

It can not yet be definitely assumed, however, that the Fergusons, "Ma" and "Pa," will be governor of Texas next year, even though the unofficial count gives the former woman executive a plurality over Gov. Sterling. An enormous vote was cast, and Mrs. Ferguson's lead is very small. The official count may tell a different story, or the courts may be called upon to decide whether fraud played a part in the primary. Only poll-taxpayers are permitted to vote in Texas. Indications are that the total vote cast is considerably larger than the number of citizens eligible to vote. The stage seems to be all set for a first class political row of the old-fashioned Texas variety.

A return of "Ma" Ferguson to the executive seat would mean, in effect, a second reelection for James E. Ferguson, who was impeached in 1917 and forbidden to hold office again. Mrs. Ferguson was elected in 1924 on the issue of vindication for her husband. He was virtually governor by proxy. If Mrs. Ferguson should win this year the impeached former governor would again have a grip upon the executive powers of the State.

It is strange that Texas should once repudiate this anomalous arrangement and then come back to it in a year when many grave problems are confronting the State. Apparently hard times have turned the political tide in the direction of Fergusonism. This return to the bizarre and the fanatical in politics may be listed as one of the abnormalities that are invariably associated with periods of distress.

THE DISTURBING MOTOR.

Everywhere throughout the world motor transportation continues to demoralize established traffic systems. In the United States it is not difficult to realize that 26,000,000 private and public passenger machines and trucks are in large measure responsible for the greatly decreased earnings of the railroads. The demand for regulation of highway transportation, particularly trucks, is heard in many countries. In England a conference has just been held under government auspices to consider this question.

There, as here, the railroads ask that commercial road vehicles be brought under stricter operating rules and be made to pay a larger share of highway expenses. It was recommended that elimination of some forms of traffic undesirable for roads be considered, that fair pay and proper accommodation for employes of motor vehicles be exacted, and that proper equipment from the passenger's standpoint be required.

The question of taxation is simplified in England by being a national levy. It was decided that a fair total for all classes of mechanically propelled vehicles would be £60,000,000, to be allotted to the various classes, with particular reference to ton-mileage. In general £23,500,000 is to be paid by "goods" vehicles and £36,500,000 by all other vehicles mechanically propelled.

The British report warns against forming any extravagant expectations regarding the amount of business that could be forced back to the railroads through increasing taxation upon commercial road vehicles. More stress is laid upon prohibiting the transfer of certain kinds of freight from the rail to road transport. This latter point will indeed become a serious question for consideration in every country. The size and weight of motor trucks have reached tremendous proportions, many of them carrying great trailers that are hard upon roads, besides obstructing traffic.

Road regulations have not kept pace with the increase in size and speed of the vehicles using them. The advantages of truck service are many. They often deliver small freight shipments in hours that would require an equal number of days by rail. They handle a minor percentage of the total freight tonnage of the country, but they get the small lots, which are by far the more profitable part of the business. Truck rates can not be cheap in comparison with rail traffic. The railroads can haul a ton one mile at a cost of a cent, while for trucks the cost is from ten to fifteen times as much. Trucks are necessary, because of their convenience and speed, but it is obvious that they must be subject to proper regulation.

AN IMPOTENT REICHSTAG.

Berlin has witnessed the anomaly of convening its most radical Reichstag in the quietest session ever seen. The National Socialists and Socialists compose two-thirds of the more than 600 members. The session was opened with a woman Communist presiding and proceeded to the election of Hermann Goering as president. He is one of Hitler's Fascist leaders. With this show of victory for the Nazi party their power ends. The Von Papen cabinet stands with a club over the Reichstag that renders it impotent, even if Hitler's National Socialists could effect a majority combination with either the Socialists or the Catholic Center party of former Chancellor Bruening.

If the new parliament remains quiet and innocuous it has the chance of a brief existence. If it becomes obstreperous Chancellor von Papen will issue the undated decree of dissolution which he brought back from his visit to President von Hindenburg. He also received executive approval of his ambitious plans for greatly expanding credit and employment throughout Germany. But for the inauguration of this financial and economic scheme he is not dependent upon either the passage of a law by the Reichstag, or a vote of confidence for himself. The entire program will probably be launched before the end of the week by a series of emergency decrees.

The purpose of these projects is not unlike that of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in this country. They aim to stimulate industry and production generally and so provide employment for the millions who are idle. The difference in the German program is that it must be inaugurated without money. Instead of having billions of ready cash and credit at its disposal, as is the case with the R. F. C., rehabilitation must be undertaken in Germany with tax certificates. When the big industries pay their taxes this year, which the government is not in a position to forgo, they will be given interest-bearing certificates in equivalent sums that will be acceptable for the payment of taxes during a four-year period beginning in 1934. It is expected that these certificates will be a basis of credit and that the German banks will accept them as collateral.

Meanwhile the Hitler victory at the last election, which made his party the largest in Germany, and which now has a Nazi chief at the head of the Reichstag, becomes a hollow mockery. Whether the Reichstag attempts to assert its authority, or remains merely a spectator before the emergency power of a virtual dictator, the chances are that it will meet with prompt dissolution. Observers in Berlin think its life may be limited to a week. In case the chancellor should exercise his authority to dissolve the Reichstag a new election for members must be held. Opinion is sharply divided as to whether Hitler will continue his gains, or whether his following reached its zenith in the last election. President von Hindenburg and his Junker cabinet have decided that there shall be no attempt at forming a coalition government. The iron hand of the old German militarism is wielding the scepter of power with no intention of relinquishing it to any party or combination.

Most fortunate, that clear weather, otherwise the New England conscience doubtless would have impelled the return of the tourists' money.

At least confounding of Manila and Albany governors will not be added to confusion of the Roosevelt cognomen. Teddy, jr., is not coming after all to stump against sixth-cousin Franklin D.

Airplane pilots asked night-flying pay during the eclipse. Managers probably conceded it for the period of totality, 1 minute and 40 seconds.

Republicans plan to hold their campaign fund to $1,500,000, all same Democrats, but with the slight edge that they have no mortgage hangover to be Raskobed from the total.

Strange as it may seem, if you believe it or not, there was snow in four States yesterday.

WOMEN RANCHERS.

Attention has been directed recently, in discussions in the federated clubs, in newspaper and magazine articles, to the great number of women who are going in for agriculture—university trained, professional, cultured women who are proud to call themselves "ranchers" and who live up to the term in its best sense.

One woman, says the Los Angeles Times, who has been president of many prominent clubs, who is a social leader, wealthy, traveled and skilled in several arts, is managing a ranch of more than 100 acres. She says that in this pursuit she finds expression which she did not find in either music or painting. Her corn rows sing to her, her flower gardens of phlox, hollyhocks and larkspur paint pictures and the painting of a seed which springs up is like the unfolding of a poem.

Another one, who is a lawyer, a bank director and who one day may be judge, raises turkeys and chickens and watches her walnut and orange trees as if they were growing children and revels in it, raves about it and succeeds so well at it that people exclaim, "How does she do it?" She explains in just three words, "I love it!"

If You Protect the House and the Servants, Why Neglect the Master?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THERE is a mortal sickness for which the physician has no balm.

It is not a sickness of the body, or of the mind, but a sickness of the spirit—the personality.

Don't confuse the personality and the mind. The mind is physical.

The brain is composed of miscroscopic cells whose functions and changes can not be seen by any device now known to science. But logic reveals what the X-ray can not.

Nature produces no energy without the consumption of fuel, and the consumption of fuel leaves ash. Thought is an energy and its production requires fuel.

The fuel is carried to the brain and the ash removed by the blood stream.

This fuel consists of the food you eat and the oxygen you breathe, and the ash is the refuse now recognized as the poison that causes fatigue.

Unusual use of the muscles consumes fuel and accumulates ash faster than the blood stream can remove it and the muscles ache with weariness. They are in fact filled with poison and will not be rested until the blood stream has time to cleanse them.

Something of that kind must happen in the brain. The act of thinking requires an activity of the microscopic brain cells. And this activity, whatever it may be, consumes fuel and leaves a poisonous ash. Hard or unaccustomed thinking accumulates ash faster than it can be removed, and the result is headache.

If thought is the product of a physical act, as it must be since the brain is physical, the mind that does the thinking can not be spiritual.

This is further evidenced by the fact that you—the part of you that is ego or personality—can require the mind to think and direct it as muscles are directed.

Brain sickness is physical, as any bodily sickness is; but what of the individual, in all ways normal and well in body and brain, who nevertheless is broken and spent?

His spirit is sick. His soul is sick. He may be sick enough to die.

You may call it remorse, nostalgia, heart-break or terror, but it is sickness of the ego and there is no cure for it except to remove the cause.

People are merciful to those sick in body and patient with those sick in mind. When they are wiser they will save their greatest kindness for those sick in spirit.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Passing on Foreign Loans.
Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The Washington administration has been a little inept in allowing itself to be put on the defensive with regard to the interest which the State Department has in foreign loans floated in the United States. The concern of the department is legitimate and reasonable. It is, in fact, almost inevitable.

There should be no necessity to point out again that the State Department does not regard these foreign loans from a financial point of view. It is from a political standpoint that they are judged. Financial operations of this nature might have some bearing upon the conduct of foreign affairs, and the State Department could hardly help taking cognizance of them.

Another Norman Invasion.
Brooklyn Eagle.

Our isolationists are up in arms to forestall a Montagu Norman conquest.

Foreign Loan Policy.
New York Herald Tribune.

There is a real and important issue of national policy involved in the State Department's attitude toward proposed foreign bond issues, but neither Gov. Roosevelt on the one side nor the department on the other even faintly touches it. Whether or not the misguided foreign bond buyer of a few years ago was influenced by the State Department's failure to impose its veto is a relatively unimportant question. What is important is the question of whether American foreign lending is to be in the future (as in the past) a matter of purely individual judgment and individual risk or whether it is to be government-controlled or government-directed as an integral part of American foreign policy and national economic activity.

A Hint to Al.
New York Times.

Willingness on the part of Gov. Roosevelt and his friends to let Alfred E. Smith take his own way and time to come out with active support of the Democratic ticket is not only tactful but is good politics. It is based apparently on the idea that such action by the candidate of 1928 is a certainty, unless he would appear in an entirely new role—deserting some of his firmest friends.

Of course, Mr. Smith might give active support to these friends and withhold it from the national ticket. But that would stimulate resentment against his friends by those Democrats who are primarily for Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Garner. So that the dictates of friendship as well as practical concern for his own future and for his standing with the party which has so greatly honored him, combine to persuade Mr. Smith to break his silence, in his own time, in a way satisfactory to himself and helpful to the Democrats in general.

Loan to Private Enterprise.
Springfield Republican.

It occurs to one that if private business in some line is to get loans, all private business might be treated without discrimination, assuming that all the concerns seeking aid would satisfy the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that the projects to be aided were financially sound in their revenue or self-liquidating possibilities. Inasmuch as ordinary public works constructed by the Federal, State or local governments do not reach one-fifth of the unemployed with jobs, and are often unproductive to boot, it might be suggested that business revival would be stimulated far more by loaning all this emergency credit to private enterprise than by spending it on any more governmental public works whatever.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

People Divided by Repeal Question, While All Agree on Hoover Economic Program.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Both of the leading candidates have agreed between themselves to make economic issues paramount in the present campaign. But the people have a mind of their own in such matters. Judging by the number of letters flowing into the office of The Post and other newspapers throughout the country there can be no question as to where popular passionate interest is centered. All are agreed on the fact of depression and the desire for relief. How to reduce unemployment and stimulate business recovery is a common desideratum. Neither party has any infallible formulas. Both are feeling after a better way, if haply it might be found.

President Hoover, whose comprehensive, economic policies are unchallenged, consulted the best minds of both parties and has reached a composite result. He asked for, and to a goodly degree secured the adjournment of politics, while striving to lift the Nation out of the slough of depression. Whoever is elected, everybody knows that what, by courtesy, is called the Hoover program will be substantially followed.

But the maintenance or repeal of the eighteenth amendment involves an issue of fundamental principle which far transcends the attitude or persuasion of candidates and parties. There is no moral question involved in economic issues. But to repeal or not to repeal, that is the question that will not down till it is effectively and finally settled. It is not merely a cunningly devised issue of the hour to fit the scheme of crafty politicians, but reaches to the taproot of our deepest moral convictions. It is this diversity of view that gives liveliness and passionate interest to the campaign.

KELLY MILLER.

White Collar Worker Is the Real Forgotten Man.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The really "forgotten man" is the "white collar" worker. He is the one that has been hit the hardest by the depression. He is the one who has been helped the least.

It is encouraging, therefore, to see that he will get President Hoover's help. He needs it and needs it badly. There has been less complaint from this class of workers than from all other classes combined.

They have suffered in practical silence and have made as few demands for relief in the various agencies as possible. But theirs is a hard lot and they should get some real assistance from the Government, industries and whatever other sources are able to lighten the load they are carrying.

In good times this class of workers does not get the full measure of fair treatment given other workers. In bad times they have to pay a heavier price than the others. They have never got their just due no matter what the economic conditions.

Being unorganized they can not demand the wages and other things organized groups demand and receive. They really live, one might say, by the sufferance of employers. It is time to change this; at least now when they are so badly in need of assistance.

They should be taken out of the "forgotten man" class. They are as necessary a cog in the wheels of business as any other class of workers. They have been looked upon as not being "productive," but they are an essential part of industry and business and are human beings and entitled to the same status as any other class of workers.

Many Veterans Opposed to Payments for Disabilities Not Connected With War Service.

FRONT LINE POST, V. F. W.

Three Kinds of Veterans.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Who are the real veterans? Those who trained in the United States a few weeks or months, doing no other service; those who got a free trip to France and Paris and trained there but never got into actual combat; or those who suffered the dangers and privations of actual combat in the trenches at the front? Their claims on our sympathy and care are very unequal, but all seem to be veterans.

JUST FOLKS

TO THE OWNER OF A HOMING PIGEON.

En route for home your bird of flight
Took shelter on our roof last night,
And when we rose, long after dawn,
We found him on our patch of lawn
Searching the grasses cool and sweet
For something pigeons like to eat.

No doubt you watched for him all day
And wondered if he'd gone astray,
Or had some hunter passing by
With deadly skill and accurate eye
Ended that pigeon's first long trip
Merely to prove his marksmanship?

Well, here's the tale you'd like to learn;
Should safely home your bird return
Hungry and thirsty, needing rest,
He chose to be our welcome guest.
And happily he spent the day
Where little Janet romps in play.

Although she fed him from her hand,
We did not read his numbered band,
Nor frighten him. These lines I write
To tell you when he ends his flight,
And you his absence long discuss,
He stopped to spend the day with us.

Deep sapphire-blue velvet makes a stunning evening gown which, with the help of the tight upper sleeves, leaves the shoulders bare in an unusual decolletage.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Coat dresses!

Ah, the charm, the elegance, the becomingness of the coat dress! It's nothing to rave about, of course, or to wax poetical over, yet it is to my mind the nicest type of garment in the fall mode.

A coat dress is ideal for business, ideal for shopping or for luncheon, perfect for any daytime affair. It is becoming to any type of figure, of any age from sister to mother, even to little sister. And it is modish.

One thing that you simply have to remember about the coat dress, though, * * * and that is to see that it wraps around the figure as far as it should, for modesty. Usually they don't, these coat dresses, and usually one remembers that they don't when the dress is already on and all fastened * * * and it's too late to put on an underskirt. Also, the coat dress is so heavy that one doesn't really want to wear an underskirt with it, hence see that your coat dress wraps well around in the first place.

I've already mentioned the chic of matching the buckle of the coat dress to the buttons. And the collarless neckline is the smartest one, 'specially when you can wear such darling separate fur pieces with them.

As to materials, there are so many lovely light weight and sheer woolens from which to choose! Suede finishes are ideal for the coat dress, and some delightful wool finish crepes. And the darker autumn colors are best, those in the wine and red shades being newest. Browns, even up to the beige range, but not too light a beige, are good for autumn, and some dark grays. Navy and black are understood. And the coat dress is yours for the choosing!

* * * *

Personally, I like the heavy upper arm! Josephine, the beautiful creole had this type of figure * * * sloping shoulders and heavy upper arm tapering to a delicate wrist and hand, large hips tapering to slender ankles, and a tiny, naturally tiny, waist. But then * * * it's all a matter of taste, as the sailor said when he wouldn't eat the cook the fortieth day of the shipwreck. And if you happen not to like your arms for any reason at all, then by all means choose an evening dress like the one I designed for you today. The sleeves are tight at the top, which enables one to indulge in that very picturesque decolletage that falls off the shoulders, without the danger of having the gown do that little thing. And deep sapphire blue velvet is the material best for this model, with a tulle in a coarse weave, matching in color. The sleeves show the trend for beautiful and subtle hand work, being embroidered where velvet and tulle join with silver, embroidered right around and over the silver lah-may that is both appliqued and embroidered. Do note the way the skirt is slit up into panels, and each panel filled in with the tulle.

* * * *

Evening bags are petaled, and very much handworked, my deah. See the two I sketched for you * * * all little petals, one of ribbon and the other of lace * * * all hand sewn, and interspersed with beads. Aren't they a gesture of defiance against economy, though?

Au Revoir.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MUSTARD DANGEROUS.

E. E. H. writes: 1. What effect has mustard on the system? I have a boy who spreads it on meat, potatoes, bread, and everything he eats.

2. He has pyorrhea very bad. Is this caused by excessive use of mustard?

REPLY.

1. The harm done is considerable, although the effects may be long delayed.

(a) Mustard is a strong condiment. People who use large quantities of condiments lose their taste for simple, wholesome foods, such as plain water, meats, breads and vegetables.

(b) Prolonged overuse of condiments causes indigestion.

(c) It is held to be a cause of liver disorders and various kinds of stones.

2. Pyorrhea is due to other causes.

MARATHON DANCING.

Mrs. W. R. writes: My daughter insists on taking part in endurance dancing contests. At present she is in one and has danced 325 hours. Previously she won third prize in one by dancing three and a half months. Physicians who have examined her say she is sound and that the work has not harmed her. I think she will suffer from this hard work in later years, even though no immediate harm is done. What do you think?

REPLY.

I think I agree with you, though there is no evidence to support us. These things are too new for that kind of evidence. I have seen people who have taken part in one or more of these so-called bunion contests, and I have not seen proof that any immediate harm was done. But you are interested in what is going to happen in the long run—as you should be.

BICYCLING MAY HELP.

S. K. writes: I am 13½ years old and weigh 95 pounds. I am 4 feet 9 inches tall. How could I increase my height? Do you think riding a bicycle would help any?

REPLY.

You should grow in height for four more years. Your height will be fixed by the height of the parent or grandparent from whom you inherit stature pattern. Diet and exercise should help somewhat in increasing your stature. Eat plenty of simple, staple, wholesome foods—meats, breads, cereals, vegetables, and fruits—riding a bicycle is one of the many exercises that is good for young people.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

WHENEVER I think of Evelyn Knapp a picture flashes across my mind of her very blonde hair, grayish blue eyes and beautiful mouth. She is known as the girl with the most beautiful mouth in Hollywood.

I wonder if you remember that last summer she fell down a cliff, 30 feet down the side of a mountain, and fractured her spine. Ever since, she has had to be very careful to get enough sleep and not to overdo her exercise. She has gone in for violet-ray light treatments for skin and nerves.

She has a series of exercises to keep her fit, not strenuous but very gentle. She says the doctors have told her that simple exercises do just as much good as strenuous ones. It's the regularity and training yourself to it, rather than the exercise itself, that ultimately accomplishes the desired results. Of course, she couldn't do anything violent, as her accident confined her to the hospital for four months. Any way, she is getting the most divine figure, the smallest waistline you've ever seen.

She wears the smartest clothes to play up her figure, things you do not see on others, and even dresses up for the studio lot, something very few of the actresses do. Around her home, however, she wears trousers. When I saw her she had a white silk blouse tucked in, informal, creased trousers and little black satin low-heeled pumps with bows.

Surrounds Self With Beauty.

Like so many of the screen favorites, Miss Knapp knows how to surround herself with beauty. Her setting is a red brick English house with a built-up sidewalk around it, and a eucalyptus tree right in front of the door. Inside, there's a large, long living room with a big fireplace at one end, the kind with the pointed top and rafters across, ruffled dotted curtains, old English prints from Godet's "Ladies' Book," a bowl of English ivy growing on the table, fringed cocktail napkins and luncheon cloths of red and white gingham, quite in keeping with the house (which she made herself, by the way). From the balcony of the stairway leading from the living room you can look down on the scene from the rafters, and while she was recuperating Miss Knapp lay on the couch enjoying this setting for her loveliness.

She doesn't have to diet; eats everything and lots of it, loves apples; says she "feels right in black and emerald green;" her favorite hobbies are swimming and walking, which she is doing in moderation until her back becomes stronger; likes lying on the beach and getting sunned. She has learned to relax and to exercise gently, a very important beauty combination.

Do you want a set of simple exercises? A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring them to you. Plan to devote ten minute night and morning to them.

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mr. Roy D. Chapin and Family Are at York Harbor.

MRS. ROY D. CHAPIN, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, is in York Harbor, Me., where she will remain until after Labor Day. She is accompanied by her children.

Mrs. William N. Doak, wife of the Secretary of Labor, was among the guests at the luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs. George Gordon Asher, of Alexandria, in honor of Mrs. Miles, wife of Brig. Gen. Perry Miles, who arrived in Washington recently from Los Angeles, where Gen. Miles formerly was stationed. Gen. Miles is now on duty at the War Department. The luncheon was given in the Meridian Mansions at 2400 Sixteenth street, and the other guests included Mrs. Edward H. Schultz, Mrs. Paul Myron Linebarger, Mrs. Samuel Fay Harper, Mrs. George Anderson, Miss Florence Rieger and Mrs. Samuel Boush, of Alexandria, mother of the hostess.

Gen. and Mrs. Miles, who were at the Brighton for some time after their arrival, have taken a house at 2146 Wyoming avenue.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, Representative John J. O'Connor, Representative Anning S. Prall, of New York, are at the Shoreham for a few days.

Count Guido Roncalli di Montorio, first secretary of the Italian Embassy, and Countess di Montorio left Washington yesterday and are motoring to Canada for a month's visit. They are giving up their residence at 3601 Idaho avenue and will take possession of 1529 Thirty-third street northwest on their return to the Capital.

Senor Don Blanco Viel Departs for Mexico.

The former charge d'affairs of Chile, Senor Don Oscar Blanco Viel, has left Washington by motor for Mexico City, where he will spend about four months. The Ambassador of Chile, Senor Don Miguel Cruchaga Tocornal, who has been in Mexico for some weeks, will return to Washington in October.

Mr. Angelo Anninos, counselor of the Legation of Greece, has taken an apartment at the Shoreham for the winter.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. David L. Brainard have as guests in their apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Neff, of New York.

Mrs. Neff was formerly Miss Elinor Guthrie, and is a daughter of Mrs. Brainard.

Rear Admiral William Carey Cole, former commander of the Scouting Force, will retire September 1 after 47 years' service, the Navy Department announced yesterday.

Democrats to Address Town Meetings.

Mr. Daniel Roper and Mr. James Du Hamel, both prominent Democrats, will make brief addresses at the first of a series of weekly Democratic town meetings to be held tonight at the Woman's National Democratic Club. Informal discussion will follow the talks. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Poe Hart are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter Tuesday evening. The child will be named Anne de Beelen Hart, after her maternal grandmother, Mrs. H. L. Ballentine. Before her marriage, three years ago, Mrs. Hart was Miss Alice Ballentine.

Maj. Ralph Hospital, U. S. A., and Mrs. Hospital have arrived in Washington for duty and have taken an apartment at 2700 Q street. The former will be on duty at the Army Industrial College.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Eberhart Haynes, accompanied by Mr. Charles Baldwin, have left for Blowing Rock, N. C., where they will spend about ten days as guests of Miss Alix Greff.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clement Dunn and their daughter, Miss Marianna A. Dunn, have returned to Washington after a short stay in New York. Mrs. Dunn returned from Europe Saturday on the Roma.

Mrs. Ralph Worthington, who was in New York, has returned to Washington with her daughters, the Misses Marian and Ethel Worthington, who recently arrived from Europe.

Commander and Mrs. Edgar McClung entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Miss Nancy Van Buren and her fiance, Mr. Spencer Brownell, jr., whose marriage will take place today. Miss Mary Bruce Mackall entertained at luncheon yesterday for Miss Van Buren and her attendants.

Surprise Shower Given For Mrs. Ludwig Rohde.

A surprise shower was given Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Ludwig W. Rohde at the home of her mother, Mrs. Nettie M. Dewey. The house was effectively decorated with lovely summer flowers. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the dining room which was lighted with pink candles, the wedding cake bearing the miniature bride and bridegroom forming the centerpiece of the tables.

The unique feature of the party was the arrangement of the many pretty gifts. An umbrella of blue shirred chiffon was suspended from the chandelier with streamers of blue and white festooned with rosebuds falling to the floor where the gifts were arranged. The gifts were caught to the streamers by a bud and each bore a gold letter spelling congratulations. Those who attended were Mrs. Franklyn Erwin, Mrs. Nettie M. Dewey, Miss Sally Wood, Mrs. R. E. Robinette, Mrs. William T. Duke, Miss Hope Miller, Miss Margaret Poor, Mrs. Howard Lewis, Mrs. George Stephens, Mrs. P. K. Oglesbee, Mrs. D. C. Cameron and Mrs. Morrow Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Waters have come to Washington from their home in New York to spend a short vacation and they have engaged an apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. Henrietta A. Forbes who with her daughter, Mrs. Augusta W. Bispham, makes her home at Wardman Park Hotel, has gone with Mrs. Bispham to Middletown, R. I., to spend some time there.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Woodson will entertain at dinner on the Shoreham terrace Tuesday evening in honor of their daughter and her fiance, Mr. Albert E. Conradis, and the wedding party. Miss Woodson and Mr. Conradis will be married Saturday, September 10.

The Rev. A. J. Wilder, rector of St. Andrew's Church corner of New Hampshire avenue and V street, has returned from his vacation, spent at his summer home on Mackinac Island, Mich. Mrs. Wilder will return later.

Mrs. Lula Adams Ewers of the Carlton Hotel, has gone to Atlantic City where she will spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Romney entertained at the dinner dance on the Shoreham terrace last evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Ely, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Carruth, Miss Ruth Lafont and Mr. Clarence Young.

Mr. Theodore G. Risley, solicitor of the Department of Labor, and Mrs. Risley, with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Risley, and their little daughter, were dinner guests Tuesday night of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kenelpp at Gray's Hill Inn, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Risley, jr., reside in Chicago, where Mr. Risley is attached to the revenue service. They motored to Washington, accompanied by the solicitor and Mrs. Risley, who were reurning from a brief visit to their home State.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Stephenson, of Kansas City, Mo., are guests at the Shoreham for a few days.

Dr. and Mrs. P. B. Bonsin are again in Washington for a short stay, stopping at Wardman Park while here. They will return to their summer home in Salisbury, Md., in a day or two.

KINDNESS TO OYSTERS.

("Dr. Vera Koehling, doctor of science in the Bureau of Shell Fisheries, Washington, urges that the practice of inflicting needless pain be stopped by giving oysters an anesthetic before opening them."—News item.)

HAVE you ever stopped to think
How an oyster's feelings sink
When it finds itself extracted
From its bed—
How its instincts all rebel
At removal from the shell
So that to some person it may then be fed?

Have you ever given thought,
As all human beings ought,
To the question of how bivalves may react
When a man who lacks a heart
Pries their outsides quite apart
So their insides may be eaten quite intact?

Oh, for shame if you have not,
For such cruelty's a blot
On the mercy of the so-called human race;
For the oyster in a stew
Has his feelings, as have you,
Though he may not quite express them on his face.

When the oyster from the sea
Is extracted ruthlessly
And consigned to death upon an oyster bar,
It must suffer quite enough
Without being treated rough
As it now appears the lowly oysters are.

NOT a semblance of a break
Does the oyster get or take
From the moment it is wrested
from its bed;
Off its outsides quickly go
So its insides, as you know,
May be served in sauces hot and very red.

Does the opener, the brute,
Think of all the pains that shoot
Through a bivalve as its shell apart is pried?
No, to him it never seems (Since an oyster rarely screams)
That the creature most unwillingly has died.

So a cheer, and make it snappy,
For a lady most unhappy
At the thought of how all oysters suffer so!
Gentle, kindly, energetic,
She will give an anesthetic
So the oyster when it's opened will not know.

THE PERSONAL NOTE.

Mr. Roosevelt proposes that all ballyhoo be eliminated from the campaign this year. He thinks that the Republicans should cut out their ballyhoovering especially.

Camp Letts Dinner To Be Held Tonight

Champion Camper of 1932 and Others Will Be Given Awards.

A farewell to vacation fun at Camp Letts will be sounded by Washington boys at the Rhodes River camp of the Young Men's Christian Association, with a final banquet and celebration tonight.

The champion camper of 1932 will be announced, awards will be made for athletic prowess and formal tribute will be paid John C. Letts and others who have aided in the development of the camp.

Silver cups, donated by the Lions Club, will be awarded to a group of boys who have distinguished themselves under the fourfold program of the camp—skilled strength, knowledge of outdoors, practical Christianity and service to others.

Candidate Spends Only 3 Cents.

Salina, Kans., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—If Uncle Sam hadn't hiked postage rates in the middle of the primary campaign, the expense of L. H. Wood in securing the Republican nomination for Saline County clerk, would have been 50 per cent less. His only expense, he certified, was 3 cents for postage in sending one letter.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

RADIO broadcasting companies will not reap a rich harvest from political campaign broadcasting this year. The 1928 campaign on the air took more than $1,000,000 from the war chests of the major parties for radio. This year the maximum expenditure is not expected to exceed $500,000.

The complete radio schedule for the Republican campaign has been approved by former Senator Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, who is in charge of all Republican publicity. The oratory has been dovetailed with the regular radio programs. The final schedule, subject to last minute changes to take care of so-called strategic moves, was delivered at the White House for approval by President Hoover a day or two ago.

"As it looks now, the Republicans will spend about $250,000 for radio facilities," said a member of the Republican radio committee. "The broadcasters do not expect the Democrats will pay any more. There are too many places for the funds from the war chests. Money is not as plentiful as in 1928, therefore the smaller sum must be spread over a larger surface."

ACCORDING to present plans, the National Broadcasting Company will get about $175,000 from the Republican campaign and the Columbia Broadcasting System about $80,000. The difference is attributed to the fact that N. B. C. operates two networks, namely, WJZ and WEAF with affiliated stations, while Columbia has one coast-to-coast chain.

Furthermore, rates charged for time on the air have soared since 1928. Facilities of the combined networks could be purchased for an hour in 1928 for about $17,000, against $35,000 now. The indication, therefore, is that less time will be used on the air this year.

Mr. Hoover will make four or five broadcasts, according to the Republican program as now drawn.

Possibilities of electrical transcriptions are being investigated, but it is doubtful if the recorded broadcasts will play much of a role this year. No part in the campaign has been assigned to television.

LIEUT. CHARLES BENTER has prepared a special treat for his audience this morning (WMAL, 9:45 o'clock). He will afford listeners an opportunity to hear an uncut rendition of Richard Strauss' beautiful tone poem, "Death and Transfiguration." It is doubtful if the full score has been played more than a half-dozen times over the air, since it requires 22 minutes and is one of the most difficult scores in the repertoire of concert orchestras and bands. Also it is necessary to obtain special permission from the composer for its performance.

Stanley Bell will explain the ideas which Strauss wished to convey in a carefully prepared continuity.

With Donald Ogden Stewart, novelist and writer, as master of ceremonies, another "Hollywood on the Air" program will be carried to WRC listeners at 11 o'clock, direct from the moving picture metropolis, with Jimmy Durante, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran as the principals.

Four musical compositions by one of America's industrial leaders, William H. Woodin, president of the American Car & Foundry Co., a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and a director of many large corporations, will be played by Cesare Sodero and his concert orchestra (WRC, 10:15 o'clock), tonight. The selections are "Pensee Sentimentale," "In Sevilla," "Medit[illegible]" and "Tartar Dance."

Ceremonies inaugurating the association of Station KDYL, Salt Lake City, with the National Broadcasting Co. will be carried over WRC at 11:30 o'clock tonight.

COL. LEMUEL Q. STOOPNAGLE has just made application for a patent on a book with cellophane pages, for people who like to read the end of the story first.

Culbertson on Bridge

FALSE-CARDING.

FALSE-CARDING may very well be compared with fire. If handled properly, it will prove a very valuable servant to the bridge player, but if not respected, it will turn around and bring disaster. False-carding as Declarer and false-carding on the defense are two entirely different problems. In the first case, there is no one to fool but the opponents, and you are free to play any card you wish. But if you are playing the defense, it is just as important not to fool your partner as to mislead the Declarer. In short, intelligent false-carding may prove a very valuable way to make the enemy err, but if done unintelligently, it will turn into a boomerang.

There are certain types of false-carding which are generally accepted as good, and which offer a better-than-even chance of success. The generally accepted theory behind false-carding is to prevent the opposition from getting an accurate count on your hand, which would be materially aided by the drop of each low card in its proper order. Less frequently, false-carding is done to mislead the opponents as to the location of an honor. Fake strength signals come under this category if made when it is known that they can not cause your partner to make a wrong play. In addition, there are several well-known coups—for instance, dropping the Queen when holding Queen-Ten alone to enable you to make your Ten, or taking a trick with a higher card than necessary and temporarily abandoning a tenace position, in order to give the Declarer a false feeling of security, which causes him to play into your hands.

A generally accepted false-card by expert players, after you have led the fourth best of a five-card suit against notrump, is not to drop your lower one on the second round of the suit, but to drop your next higher one and make Declarer think you have only four of that suit, and he may thereby not hold up his stopper long enough to shut your partner out. Then, most Declarers, holding the Ace-King of a suit, will invariably take the Ace on the first round of the suit when the opponents lead it to him, thinking they have made a brilliant false-card. There are times when the Ace is the proper play, but there is probably an equally large number of times when it would be better tactics and better psychology to take the trick with the King. I have no doubt that a whole book could be written on this subject—that is, when to take the Ace and when to take the King.

Suppose you are the Declarer at a three notrump contract. A heart is opened, and you have three to the King in Dummy and three to the Ace-Queen in your hand. You naturally do not fear hearts, but there is another suit which is practically wide open and to which you do not wish the opponents to shift when they get in. On the low card opening, you play the low from Dummy and Junior plays the 9. Blindly false-carding and taking the trick with the Ace is probably the worst play that you could make. The opening leader will now know that you must have the Queen, and will shift, as soon as he gets in. But if your take the first trick with the Queen, it will appear quite possible to the opening leader that Junior has been withholding the Ace, whereas, he couldn't possibly have withheld the Queen.

If false-carding is done intelligently, and with as much thought as is used shall we say, in preparing for a squeeze, it will bring you many extra tricks.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to noon, from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger hours are from 8 a. m. to 9:45 a. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 8:15 p. m.

On September 1, the stars foretell a day beset with many difficulties, but none of an insuperable nature. There will be present the temptation to magnify them. The only sure way to seek a happy issue is to face them squarely and calmly. There will be unexpected signs of improvement in mercantile conditions, and the bad weather prophets will be discomfited.

A boy born on this September 1 will, at a very early age, feel his oats, and will seek to walk unaided. He will have much force of character, as well as independence of spirit. A girl, on the other hand, will grow up to be rather helpless in face of trouble, and dependent, all the time, on others. Both boy and girl will have affectionate natures.

You, if born on September 1, are a very downright sort of person and rather opposed to compromise in any shape or form. It goes without saying that you are intolerant of others' weaknesses, and have little or no sympathy for those who fall by the wayside. You are hard on subordinates, and rarely give them that word of encouragement which so often inspires greater effort. Your servants and you help undoubtedly respect you, but they have little affection for you. In all fairness, it must be conceded that you are an equally hard taskmaster on yourself and you give to your work every ounce of energy of which you are capable.

Your disposition is a hard one. For those, however, who are bound to you by ties of intimacy and relationship, you feel an intense love and devotion, although you consider all demonstrativeness a weakness. You are too dogmatic to be successful as a companion, but that sense which convinces that you are right and forces you to persevere, in spite of friendly warnings, in a given course spells success. When difficulties arise, you are at your best. When failure threatens, you shine as undaunted and fearless.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

THERE'S a neat sack suit that boys feel so happy to wear because it is so mannish. It can be made with knickers or with shorts, as shown in small view.

You'd be surprised how easily it is made, to say nothing of the saving in cost.

Soft tweed in brown or gray mixture is particularly nice for early fall for school wear. Navy blue homespun is lovely for "best." Brown diagonal woolen is another suggestion.

Style No. 3109 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

Size 8 requires 2¼ yards, 54-inch, with ⅝-yard 36-inch lining.

Price of pattern, 15 cents.

Our Fall Fashion Magazine is ready. Contains attractive selection of new patterns for women and children, also embroidery, patchwork quilts and a three-lesson beauty course. Price 10 cents a copy.

BLADENSBURG WARS UPON SEWER ODORS

Citizens Will Ask Sanitary Commission to Remove Cause at Once.

Elimination of the unsavory odors emanating from the nearly dry Eastern Branch at Bladensburg will be asked of the Suburban Sanitary Commission at once, Clifford Johnson, president of the Greater Bladensburg Citizens Association said last night.

In addition to this request, the executive committee of the association will meet next week to plan a campaign to remove the cause of the odors. According to the commission, the evil smells arise from two drains which empty into a ditch near the Peace Cross. When the ditch is dry, there is no current to carry off the sewage.

Three persons were fined $50 each on liquor charges yesterday in Hyattsville Police Court and three more were held for action of the grand jury on holdup accusations. John Smith, who said he lived at 223 Fourth street southwest, an address unlisted in the City Directory, was fined for the possession of four 5-gallon cans of alleged alcohol found in his car by Policeman Ralph Brown.

Others fined for possession of alleged liquor were Jake A. Deadwyler, of Muirkirk, and William Lee, of Fairmont Heights. Both were arrested in raids on their homes. The three persons held for the grand jury were Peggy McCauley, of Washington, and Russell Jones and George Ferrell, both of whom live in Prince Georges County. They are accused of robbing Joseph Schwaller of $10 at his home near Largo, Md. Judge J. Chew Sheriff set their bond at $500.

One man who has been charged with assault with intent to kill and another is being held as a material witness in connection with the beating last week of Joseph Weismiller, of Capitol Heights. David Farland, of Capitol Heights, was arrested yesterday by Policeman Claude Reese as the man's assailant, while William Green is being held as a witness to the alleged assault.

About 8,000 yards of cotton cloth, made by the Red Cross from raw cotton given it by the Farm Board, is expected to be available for distribution in Prince Georges County within two weeks, according to Dr. C. P. Close, head of the county Red Cross Chapter.

A Federal investigation of the arrest of George Page, of Edmonston, a substitute mail carrier, and the delay of the mail last Saturday is under way, it was learned yesterday. Page has been instructed to make a written report of the matter to Postoffice authorities. He was arrested for driving on dealer's tags, but the case was continued for two weeks when it was called Monday in Police Court.

Delegates and alternates to attehd the annual State conference at Wytheville, Va., in October were appointed. The delegates are: Mrs. Wallis and Mrs. Parker; alternates, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs E. B. Chapman.

Councils in Fairfax Will Meet Tonight

Towns Will Comply With Virginia Law on Personnel.

New councils of the incorporated towns of Fairfax County, Va., will meet tonight. The meeting of the Vienna council has been postponed until next Wednesday as the majority of members will be out of town. Mayor-elect C. A. Ashton will assume office today. The other members of the council who have qualified are Joseph Berry, Fred Hagman, Carl Allensworth and John Paul Jones. Under State law the town can not have less than three nor more than nine members of the council. Mayor Ashton stated that he expected the new council to appoint another member.

The council of Falls Church will meet for reorganization as only one new member, Benjamin Elliott, will take office for the first time, the others being reelected. The new council will be composed of Mayor L. P. Daniel and Councilmen J. V. Turner, Dr. Julius Parmelee, Charles Gage, Milton Roberts, W. T. Parrott and Mr. Elliott. J. C. Parrott will continue as town clerk-treasurer and Paul Herrman as town sergeant. The meeting tonight will take the place of the regular meeting on September 12.

The Fairfax town council will be composed of Mayor Thomas P. Chapman, sr., and Councilmen Albert R. Sherwood, O. B. Cambell, Louis M. Coyner, Edgar Littleton, James E. Nickell and Dr. Ford Swetnam, the only newly elected member, the others being reelected. The meeting tonight will take place in the mayor's office in Payne street.

ARLINGTON SHERIFF HITS POLICE LACK

Fields Tells County Board Failure to Name More Endangers Schools.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Failure of the Arlington County board at its meeting last night to grant the request of Sheriff Howard B. Fields for three additional police officers at a salary of $100 per month will endanger the proper policing of the county schools this fall, according to the sheriff.

Sheriff Fields informed the board that the money could come from the road fund. Fred A. Gosnell, member of the board, is opposed to going beyond the budget to acquire added protection.

Fields informed the board that due to general conditions throughout the county the police work has greatly increased.

The board, on motion of Mrs. Elizabeth Magruder, empowered the sheriff to appoint one officer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Roger Orrison.

The matter of additional police as requested by the sheriff was referred to County Manager Roy S. Braden for a report at the next meeting.

John A. Steward, chairman of the county school board, appeared before the meeting and assured the board of the school board's hearty cooperation in all matters of school nature that will be of interest to the county board.

TAX DISTRIBUTION IN FAIRFAX SHOWN

Table Is Prepared by County Commissioner Kincheloe for Fiscal Year.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

How the tax dollar paid by property owners in Fairfax County, Va., is distributed is shown in the table prepared by James U. Kincheloe, county commissioner of revenue, for the year ended July 1, 1932. The tax rate of 45 cents on the $100 property valuation yields $61,434.91, the 90-cent tax rate for schools yields $120,516.51 and the 5-cent tax for Confederate pensions yields $6,399.33. The special school levy in Dranesville district raises $3,399.40; Falls Church district, $3,566.12; Mount Vernon district, $1,304.19, and Providence district, $5,885.13.

The levy for bond issue, interest and payments in Dranesville district yields $20,971.90; in Falls Church district, $13,308.39, and Mount Vernon district, $3,912.63. Centerville and Lee districts has neither a special school nor bond issue tax. The total special school taxes collected are $14,154.84 and the total bond issue taxes are $38,192.87.

The total valuation of all real estate in the county for this year exclusive of the incorporated towns amounted to $9,588,658, on which a total tax of $170,293.17 was paid. This was divided among the six magisterial districts as follows: Centerville valuation, $859,547, and taxes, $12,033.66; Dranesville valuation, $1,141,838, and taxes, $31,971.45; Falls Church valuation, $1,553,853, and taxes, $32,630.92; Lee valuation, $672,435, and taxes, $9,414.09; Mount Vernon valuation, $2,295,534, and taxes, $36,728.56, and Providence district valuation, $3,065,451, and taxes, $47,514.49.

Real Estate Valuation.

The total valuation of real estate in the magisterial districts in 1931 was $9,538,068, on which taxes amounted to $249,320.40. The increase in property valuation during the past year is attributed to construction during that period.

The total valuation of real estate in the incorporated towns amounts to $1,839,672, for which $34,204.21 will be collected in taxes. This is divided as follows: Clifton, valuation, $51,652, and taxes, $723.13; Fairfax, valuation, $354,291, and taxes, $4,960.07; Falls Church, valuation, $755,938, and taxes, $14,362.82; Herndon, valuation, $371,555, and taxes, $9,474.65; Vernon, valuation, $7,286, and taxes, $116.58; Vienna, valuation, $254,440, and taxes, $3,943.82; West Falls Church, valuation, $44,510, and taxes, $623.14. The total real estate valuation in the towns for 1931 was $1,804,136, on which $34,382.35 in taxes were assessed.

The total real estate valuation of both districts and towns in the county for 1932 is $11,428,330, as compared to $11,342,204 in 1931. The taxes assessed on real estate for 1932 are $204,497.38, as compared to $283,702.75 in 1931. The decrease in the tax levies in 1932 might be attributed to the abolition of county road taxes this year.

Personal Property.

The assessed valuation of all tangible personal property in the county for 1932 amounts to $2,197,727, as compared to $2,390,820 in 1931. The taxes assessed for 1932 will amount to $36,497.08, as compared to $54,328.12 in 1931. The decrease in the valuation and the decrease in taxes on such property is attributed to the decrease of the valuation of cattle and automobiles.

The total valuation of personal property and real estate on which the county derives taxes is $13,626,057 and for 1932 it will collect $240,994.46 for county purposes.

Taxes collected in Fairfax County for the State are based on intangible personal property, incomes and licenses. The assessed valuation of intangibles for 1932 is $4,351,807 as compared to $4,627,875 in 1931. The taxes assessed by the State on the 1932 valuation are $36,630.74 as compared to $37,487.73 in 1931. Incomes amounting to $528,740.04 in 1932 paid $11,725.17 in State taxes as compared to incomes amounting to $652,352.51 in 1931 paying $15,327.55.

There were 716 licenses issued for this year, making a total tax of $11,822.78 as compared to 649 licenses in 1931 paying $11,706.07.

5 CITY COUNCILMEN TO TAKE OATH TODAY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Judge William P. Woolls, of the corporation court, or Elliott F. Hoffman, clerk of the court, will administer the oath of office to the five new members of the city council at noon today. Judge Woolls is at his country place near Warrenton, but may return to the city for this ceremony.

Under the provisions of the ward plan of the council-manager form of government, decided by the vote of the people last March, the council will now have nine members, the five new members elected in June and the three holding over from the former council of five.

Councilman Michael T. Dwyer is one of those elected in June, and was an appointive member of the old council. Councilman Benedict Weil did not run for reelection. The entire personnel will be up for election in 1934.

Several matters of city business are now awaiting the action of the city council, but the session at noon today may be brief, although the question of the time of meetings may be considered. City council, since the council-manager form was adopted, has been holding regular business sessions on the first and third Thursdays, in the afternoon, with informal, or secret meetings, on the alternate Thursday afternoons.

Ward Brown Will Speak At Luncheon of Kiwanis

Ward Brown, secretary of the Alexandria Association, Inc., will be the speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club today at 12:30 in the George Mason Hotel, Alexandria. His subject will be "Old Architecture." He will be presented by City Collector Purvis Taylor.

Charles R. Hooff and Col. Charles B. Moore, president and treasurer, respectively, of the association, will also be the guest of the Kiwanis Club. Plans will be made at the meeting today for attendance at the meeting in Winchester on Wednesday next, when the club in that city will celebrate the tenth anniversary of its organization.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

OLD SOL will have to put on a better show than that to make a dent in the theater box-office receipts. Or so I am led to believe from casual reports seeping in over the phone since it became apparent that business was not off as a result of the natural phenomenon that made it so easy for that Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's court 'way back there on an earlier occasion!

With so many people out squinting at the sun through rose-colored glasses, it was taken as a foregone conclusion by the various managements that matinee business would also be thrown into the shade between the hours of 2:30 and 4 yesterday afternoon—just when matinee business is supposed to be at its peak. All the lads with managerial responsibilities weighing down their shoulders and turning their hair prematurely gray were happily disappointed when it came time to count up.

It seems that instead of being off, matinee business was a little better yesterday than it was on Tuesday. Specific reports that have come to me from some of the foremost of our emporia of refrigerated gelatines indicate a decided public preference for comfort over Sol's celestial celebration of an infrequent event.

But what I want to know is this: If the street level temperature reached 106 degrees—as it did at the Pennsylvania avenue kiosk—with the sun performing with only 11 per cent efficiency, how hot would it have been had the moon minded its own business? Whew!

What femme commentator on the drama named Eleanore Wilson, working on the Washington Daily News, is going to be married to what newsman named Frank Smith, on the Washington Times, this week-end? Aw, somebody told you!

And speaking of such, wouldn't it be fine and dandy if Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bern (Jean Harlow), could manage to have just one picture taken without being all tangled up in a lovers' embrace, like a final fadeout? But maybe love is like that—I wouldn't know.

When the Gayety Theater throws open its doors for the new season with a matinee performance day after tomorrow, burlesque fans will be privileged to view one of their favorite temptresses right off the bat. The star of the "Girls from Dixie" company is none other than Ann Corio, one of the most luscious of the Ninth street allurements. And with temperatures like these, there's no telling what may come off!

"Temperatures like these," by the way, bid fair to set up a new attendance record over the three-day holiday week-end for which such elaborate preparations are being made at Glen Echo Park. Labor Day, of course, is the last holiday of the park's season and always turns out a crowd. Under existing conditions, I wouldn't be surprised if Manager Schloss would be compelled to build an annex to the crystal pool to accommodate all those who will want to get cooled off. Including your entirely liquid reporter!

The first volley of big guns saluting the new season next week, while we think of it, will sound something like this: Metropolitan, the Four Marx Brothers in "Horsefeathers;" Palace, Will Rogers in "Down to Earth;" RKO-Keith's, Wheeler and Woolsey in "Hold 'em Jail;" Loew's Fox, Lewis S. Stone and Jackie Cooper in "Divorce in the Family," and "Rio Rita" on the stage; Earle, Constance Bennett in "Two Against the World," and Ledova headlining the vaudeville; Columbia, Arthur Wontner in "The Sign of the Four."

So that erudite young scholar, Mr. Offutt, who is studying to be a half-wit, dashed in from the art department at the hottest hour of the day and chortled: "Come on, I have a piece of smoked herring, let's go down on the Eclipse back of the White House and look through it at the ellipse of the sun!"

Appeal Is Issued For Chest Pledges

Situation Is Desperate One, Graham Says in Plea to Contributors.

Declaring that the situation is a desperate one and that the Community Chest faces a large deficit, E. C. Graham, president of the organization, yesterday sent out an appeal to all contributors to pay out their pledges.

The Chest, he said, has had to borrow $100,000 during August on the strength of outstanding pledges. All possible curtailment of expense has been rigorously applied, he stated.

His appeal read: "I want to appeal to every person who has pledged a contribution to the Chest to pay that pledge in full now, or as much of it as is possible, in order that our deficit may be held to the lowest possible figure. The situation is a desperate one and our only means of meeting it is for each contributor to pay his pledge now."

HAGEN BOWS IN 43-HOLE MATCH IN U. S. PRO GOLF

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

ROGER PECKINPAUGH has settled an old score by slapping a ten-day payless suspension on Wesley Ferrell, the ace of his pitching staff, who has been inviting the attention of the Cleveland management by his deportment on and off the mound this season.

The overt act that caused Peck to lay the heavy hand of authority upon the Indians' pitching mainstay was Ferrell's conduct in a game at Boston in which he kicked up the dust and otherwise disputed Peckinpaugh's decision to remove him from the game when he was being pounded solidly by the Red Sox in the first inning.

But the Peck-Ferrell feud had its inception earlier in the season when the pitcher went far out of his province to assert to New York baseball reporters that Joe McCarthy, of the Yankees, was the best manager in the league.

Spoke Well, Perhaps, But Not Wisely.

Whatever Ferrell's opinions on the subject might have been, he may have spoken well—but not wisely. It is not the accepted custom for ball players working for one manager to proclaim another and rival manager as the best managerial brains in the circuit and Ferrell's pronouncement which he did not deny caused a general lifting of eyebrows.

Signs of temperament had been displayed by Ferrell even before that incident. He disputed umpires' decisions as if it were akin to lese majesty to call the close ones balls against the great Ferrell who was the only pitcher in the league to win 20 games in each of his first three seasons in the majors.

It was hinted more than broadly that even among his teammates he was not as popular as many of the lesser lights on the club.

Was Failure Against Strong Clubs.

The chief complaint against Ferrell perhaps was his inability to win from the stronger clubs in the circuit despite his impressive total of victories. Against New York, Philadelphia and Washington, the teams that Cleveland most desired to beat, the great Ferrell was sadly lacking and this fact did not serve to heighten his popularity with the management.

Roger Peckinpaugh is as mild-mannered a manager as any in the big leagues but his decisive action against Ferrell, perhaps at the cost of winning third place, is destined to earn him greater respect than any other disciplinary act, and is in shining contrast to the leniency of one of his predecessors in office.

Board of Strategy at Cleveland.

Many were the stories told of a particular regime in Cleveland, but the best that is retailed concerns a recent board of strategy.

Whenever an important decision was to be made during the progress of the game, the manager called into consultation three of the veteran players of the club. They assembled around the water cooler to deliberate the wisdom of the next play.

The procedure was to take a vote on the matter among the four of them. So great was the manager's control of the club, so the story goes, that if the vote resulted in a tie, a happy solution was reached by throwing the manager's vote out of consideration.

Navy Renews Sports Pact With Army

Eligibility Codes Are Unchanged in 3-Year Agreement.

Grid Teams to Meet on December 3 at Philadelphia.

In the contracts sent Army covering details for the 1928 game, despite the fact that a fundamental contract governing a series of four games still had a year to go, Rear Admiral Louis M. Nulton, superintendent of the Naval Academy, included a clause stipulating that "no contestant shall take part in this game on either team who has had three years' experience in intercollegiate football * * *."

Navy's objections were based on Army's permitting stars of the caliber of "Light Horse" Harry Wilson and Chris Cagle to continue their sensational play for West Point after playing intercollegiate football before graduating from college and entering the academy.

Maj. Gen. Edwin B. Winans, then superintendent of the Military Academy, immediately returned the contract and announced the suspension of relations.

In an explanatory statement he insisted that all students were treated alike at West Point and that there could be no discrimination against any cadet on the basis of athletic ability.

The lingering hope that Washington would be named as the site of the 1932 Army-Navy football game in the event that the service institutions resumed athletic relations this year vanished completely yesterday with the announcement that the game would be played in Philadelphia on December 3.

Concerted efforts were made by the District of Coumbia Bicentennial Commission to bring the game to the Capital, and sports history was made last spring when Congress, in a unanimous resolution, requested that the game, if played, be staged in Washington as a feature of the George Washington Bicentennial year.

The announcement that the game would be played in Philadelphia was made without further explanation for the choice of that city, which was the seat of the game for many years before the contest was transferred to New York. Baltimore and Chicago also have been the scenes of one Army-Navy game each, but Washington has never staged the contest.

Memphis Man Wins 15-Mile Swim Marathon and $7,500

Blagden Sets Steady Pace, Taking Lead at 5-Mile Mark and Beating Italian by 100 Yards; George Young Hurt.

TORONTO, Ontario, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The fittest survivor of the 191 swimmers who plunged into the chilly waters of Lake Ontario this morning, George Blagden, of Memphis, Tenn., splashed across the finish line early this evening, winner of $7,500 first prize money in the annual Canadian national exhibition marathon swim and holder of a new record for the race.

Blagden, who learned to swim in the Mississippi River, set a steady pace from the start to the unusually close finish. He took the lead after a little more than five miles and never was headed.

Only about 100 yards behind at the finish was Gianni Gambi, of Italy, a "windmill" swimmer who made up in strength what he lacked in form, while Isador Spondor, of Port Colborne, Ontario, and Marvin Nelson, of Fort Dodge, Iowa, were not far behind.

All of the first five broke the previous record for the 15-mile swim, set by Nelson in 1930. Blagden finished in 7 hours 19 minutes 52 3-5 seconds. Gambi's time was 7:24:27, Spondor's 7:30:0 3-5 and Nelson's 7:38:27 2-5. Bill Goll, of New York, finished in 7:41:23 2-5. The former record was 7:43:36 2-5.

Although the temperature of the water was 63 degrees throughout the race, a large part of the starting field of 191 gave up the grind before the five-mile mark had been reached.

Perhaps the worst "break" of them all was suffered by George Young, of Toronto, 1931 winner and a favorite to repeat. Entering the race with the hope of winning enough to set up housekeeping after his marriage with Margaret Ravior, who won the women's race last week, Young was forced to drop out near the end of the fifth lap just after he had sprinted into third place.

Young's head struck a float at the end of the lap and he was pulled from the water in a dazed condition. He recovered after about a half hour.

Second prize money which Gambi won was $2,000. Other awards were Spondor, $700; Nelson, $500, and Goll, $200.

CUYLER BATS CUBS TO 12TH STRAIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Kiki Cuyler, pounding out a timely single in the ninth and a home run in the tenth, led the Chicago Cubs to their twelfth straight victory today, the league leaders defeating the New York Giants, 10 to 9, in a weird contest played for the most part in the rain.

With the Giants leading, 5 to 4, in the ninth, Cuyler connected with a single, scoring Demaree with the run that sent the game into extra innings. Guy Bush was wild in the tenth, hitting two men and giving one base on balls, which, coupled with three hits, gave the Giants four runs.

Cuyler was not through, however, as he produced a home run with two men on base after Koenig also had hit a homer to give the Cubs five runs and victory in their half of the weird tenth inning.

SCHAAF SENT TO CANVAS BY BAER

CHICAGO, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—In a dramatic finish that had the spectators on their feet screaming and yelling, Max Baer, Livermore, Calif., heavyweight challenger, decisively defeated Ernie Schaaf, the Boston strong boy, in a ten-round fight at the stadium tonight, with the bell depriving the youthful Westerner of a knockout victory.

Just two seconds before the gong sounded in the tenth round ending the battle, Schaaf was sent flat on his face, completely knocked out.

Schaaf, never before knocked off his feet since becoming a heavyweight threat, was battered into a state of collapse in a thrilling tenth round, to the astonishment of the spectators. Baer accomplished the defeat of the blond Boston heavyweight by the ruthless, systematic attack he started in the ninth round.

Forces Schaaf to Ropes.

As the tenth round began Baer, walking into Schaaf, began clipping him on the chin with heavy lefts and rights. He forced Schaaf into the ropes with a heavy attack to the head and body, and when Schaaf escaped into midring, he was groggy and reeling. He attempted to avoid the withering fire by backing into the ropes again, but Baer throwing punches like a sharpshooter, tore after him, whipping mercilessly blows to the chin.

With Schaaf staggering and reeling, Baer measured him with a savage finishing right blow to the chin. Schaaf fell flat on his face, knocked out. Referee Tommy Thomas did not take up the count of the timekeeper as the bell had sounded, ending the fight, almost as soon as Schaaf hit the floor.

6 Errors Aid Nats to Beat St. Louis

Browns Shell Thomas Out With 6 Runs in 6th, But Lose, 7-6.

4 Wild Throws Help Nats to Gain Lead Against Gray.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

OF the many weird games played in Griffith Stadium, one which rates close to the top in this respect, was staged yesterday as the Nationals ended their final long home stand of the season with a 7-to-6 victory over the St. Louis Browns. The visitors made no less than six errors, four before a man was retired in the second inning, to give the natives three unearned runs, and then in the sixth Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas came within an ace of tossing away a 7-run lead.

This victory increased the Nats' third-place lead over the Indians to three games, cut down the A's second-place margin over them to four and a half games and gave them a record of twelve victories and three losses against the Western teams on this visit.

Thanks largely to St. Louis errors, the Nats hung up a 7-run lead in the first four frames and then the visitors reformed and Sammy Gray settled down and pitched brilliant ball. Meanwhile, Thomas, back in the game for the first time since he injured his salary wing on August 13, was having no troubles at all until the sixth, when he suddenly lost everything but his glove.

Thomas Loses Stuff Quickly.

Thomas managed to get two men out in this round with only one run scored against him, but then came a triple, with one on, three bases on balls which forced another home, a double which scored two and his exit. Monte Weaver granted a single which let the fifth and sixth runs of the round register before he could check the advance and then pitched well over the balance of the route.

The Browns' first miscue did them no harm, but they gave a splendid illustration of how the game should not be played in the second. Melillo started by booting Kuhel's roller and with a possible double play in sight, Gray threw wildly past second on West's tap. Before the next miscue was charged, Gray tried to pick Kuhel off second and the latter spiked Levey, covering the sack, causing his removal from the fray and bringing Grimes to third. After a bad peg by Ferrell trying to pick Kuhel off second let him advance and West take the middle sack, Grimes threw badly on Kerr's grounder and the aisles were packed. Maple's long fly let one score and the others move up, and Thomas doubled two more home.

Some fancy hitting accounted for the quartet of markers which the Nats molded in the fourth, these resulting from Kerr's double, Maple's safe bunt, two-baggers by Thomas and Manush, and a single by Cronin.

One was out when the Browns got busy in the sixth and threatened to do the impossible. Garms tripled and held his base on Schulte's pop to Cronin. It was here that the fireworks started. Campbell tripled, three walks in a row forced him home and Scharein's double let two more score. Grimes greeted Weaver with a single to make it 7 to 6, and then the cyclone abated as fast as it appeared.

3 Detroit Homers Defeat A's, 5 to 4

Philadelphia, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Tony Freitas' winning streak was halted at ten straight today as the Detroit Tigers nosed out the Athletics, 5 to 4, and evened the series here at two victories apiece.

Freitas pitched only seven innings, but during this time he served home run balls to Gehringer and Hogsett, his mound rival, and three blasts over the right field barrier gave the Tigers the margin of victory.

Gehringer, the Tigers' second baseman, hammered his over the fence in the first inning. Hogsett hit his first homer in the sixth and then, with the Tigers trailing by one run in the seventh, the left-hander sent the ball over the fence and drove DeSautels home ahead of him.

Cruickshank, 9 Down, Rallies to Win on 41st Green.

Horton Smith Upset by Dark Horse on 2d Extra Hole.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

ST. PAUL., Minn., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The wildest orgy of overtime matches in the history of modern golf shook professional championship play today, tumbling Walter Hagen and Al Watrous out of the title drive after dramatic, record-breaking struggles.

Hagen, gunning for his sixth professional crown, fell after a stirring battle that did not end until the forty-third green where his stubborn rival, Johnny Golden, of Norton, Conn., rolled in a ten-foot putt for a birdie four. Watrous was eliminated by wee Bobby Cruickshank, of New York, who waged an uphill fight seldom equalled in golf to win on the forty-first hole.

Smith, Lacey, Runyon, Shute Bow.

Both engagements, which capped a day of upsets that victimized such stars of the professional world as Horton Smith, of Chicago; Charles Lacey, of New York; Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., and Denny Shute, of Cleveland, runner-up in the 1931 final at Providence, broke all records for overtime golf.

The former mark was the 40-hole thriller between Reggie Lewis and Charles "Chick" Evans, jr., in the national amateur at the Engineers' Club, New York, in 1920. George von Elm, and Maurice McCarthy traveled ten extra holes in their classic in the national amateur of 1930, but theirs was an original 18-hole affair and lasted only a grand total of 28.

Hagen's losing battle against the veteran, unperturbed Golden won the gallery that stormed over the course today but it was Cruickshank who fought the greatest fight.

With only 13 holes of the regulation distance of 36 holes to travel, the Detroit professional had "Wee Bobby" nine down, on the fourth green, he felt sorry for his rival and conceded a six foot, downhill putt for a half that most any golfer would have missed eight times out of ten.

Conceded Long Putt Starts Cruickshank.

That was the spark that touched off Cruickshank's fighting heart. He won nine of the next eleven holes, forcing Watrous to hole out long putts to get those two halves, and then went on to win on the forty-first green.

No thrills were lacking either in

SEVEN FAVORITES DEFEATED AT MARLBORO BEFORE 5,000

Bubola Beats Bright Bird In Feature

Fervid Third in Drive; Nemerc Triumphs Over Juveniles.

Wandering Gold Wins; Jockey Sargent Is Hurt in Fall.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

FAVORITES were the victims of a total eclipse yesterday at Marlboro. Some of the choices were not good enough, others were beaten in the last jump and at least two were tossed into discard by poor riding. The second day of the annual meeting drew some 5,000 to Prince Georges County, the majority, as usual, from Washington. Good prices made many forget the sultry heat.

Bubalo, Laurel's Man o' War of a season ago, gave the sprinters that accepted the issue in the Marlboro Hotel Stakes—the day's feature—a lesson or two. Again in charge of Jockey R. Watson, who carried the Bubbling Over filly to a five-race winning streak last fall, Bubola came from nowhere to nip Bright Bird, the favorite, in the last few jumps. Fervid hustled up to take the show money.

Bright Bird appeared to be a worthy favorite at the start, jumping out to a length lead and turning back challenge after challenge until Watson brought Bubola in the stretch.

Nemerc Sprints to Victory.

Nemerc, from the barn of Robert Cremen, accounted for the opening sprint, leading a group of eight from start to finish. Jockey Remillard kept the daughter of Canter on the move, but had to drive to out finish Tiphaine, which beat the favored Busy Ike for the place. Nemerc rewarded its backers at $9.90 for the usual deuce. The well-played Bodkin was virtually left at the post.

Mrs. A. Getz's Ricks graduated from the maiden ranks in the second under a rousing ride by Jockey Sherry. Run Off, the even money favorite, was second, and Bright Seas third. Run Off led from the barrier rise until the final strides. From where we sat it appeared that Shaw, on Run Off, did not ride his mount out.

Jockey F. Sargent fell from Miss Caddie soon after the start and escaped with a shaking up and some bruises. However, he was forced to cancel his mounts for the remainder of the day.

Fife Winner in Stretch Duel.

Fife, at 8 to 1, kept the favorites in the background again in the third, winning a stretch duel from Shaun Padraic and Wildwest. Single Hope and Glen Burnie, which fought for the lead most of the way, quit at the stretch turn.

In the most exciting finish of the day, Gay Widower won on a nose decision over Gunther in the fifth. It was the nearest thing to a dead heat ever run at this course.

Wandering Gold, with the Marlboro sands under his hoofs again, led from start to finish to take the sixth, to bring a victory to the silks of Jim Arthur.

Five Oaks took the final from High Socks, with Blue Fish third.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FIFE, $17.60, $7.60, $6.00; SHAUN PADRAIC, $12.70, $6.90; WILD WEST, $5.40.

FIFE broke alertly, was rushed into contention early and closing gamely in the stretch, was going away. SHAUN PADRAIC, away poorly, was rushed up fast, but ran into trouble at the half, recovered quickly to take command only to be unable to stand off FIFE'S challenge. WILD WEST, timidly ridden, was taken on the outside last half and finished fast in center of track. SINGLE HOPE, fractious at the gate, was taken outside stalls, rushed into early lead, only to tire under weight. CHLOEDAIR showed early speed and quit to walk last half.

FOURTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $500; claiming. The Marlboro Hotel. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at $3.59. Off at 4:01. Winner, W. H. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GAY WIDOWER, $7.00, $4.40, $3.70; GUNTHER, $7.80, $7.70; JEALOUS FOOL, $7.80.

GAY WIDOWER, under wraps and within striking distance of the pace for the first half, moved up fast on the outside and, saving ground at every turn, just lasted to win. GUNTHER broke slowly, was allowed to settle into his stride and under a perfect ride closed fastest of all only 10 miles at the wire. JEALOUS FOOL ran an even race and had no excuses. MINA F. and CONTRACTOR raced themselves into defeat first three-quarters and then retired.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. The Chesapeake Beach. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:07. Off at 5:08. Winner, J. F. Mayberry's ch. g. (5), by The Wanderer—Golden Bantam. Value to winner, $325; second, $50; third, $25. Time, 0:26, 0:52 3-5, 1:21 3-5, 1:49 4-5, 1:57.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WANDERING GOLD, $10.60, $4.00, $2.90; TERRA NOVA, $2.80, $2.60; JACK OF CLUBS, $3.70.

WANDERING GOLD rushed to the front after going a quarter and saving ground at every turn, just lasted to win. TERRA NOVA off very slowly was held in restraint for a half and came with a rush through the stretch. JACK OF CLUBS, within striking distance of the leaders throughout, had no excuses. PLAIN DEALER broke fast and kept on the outside throughout, tired last quarter. He should improve off this race.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:43. Off at 5:43. Winner, J. Magner's ch. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FIVE OAKS, $7.30, $4.10, $4.20; HIGH SOCKS, $5.50, $3.60; BLUE FISH, $3.50.

FIVE OAKS, restrained well off the pace for three-quarters, rushed around her field but had to be put to a drive to stand off HIGH SOCKS' challenge. Latter well up throughout came fast last half. BLUE FISH broke awkwly, went up fast and in passing NOISY MISS, the early pacemaker, knocked her into the fence causing her to drop right out of it. PAT CALHOUN closed an immense gap from a slow beginning.

BRIGHT SEAS broke slowly, was taken the overland route and finished fast. RUBE SAMUELSON showed early speed. MISSING CADDIE lost rider at break. SEA MYRTLE broke down and was eased up in first sixteenth.

THIRD RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:17. Off at 3:23. Winner, J. M. Bell's dk. br. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FIFE, $17.60, $7.60, $6.00; SHAUN PADRAIC, $12.70, $6.90; WILD WEST, $5.40.

FIFE broke alertly, was rushed into contention early and closing gamely in the stretch, was going away. SHAUN PADRAIC, away poorly, was rushed up fast, but ran into trouble at the half, recovered quickly to take command only to be unable to stand off FIFE'S challenge. WILD WEST, timidly ridden, was taken on the outside last half and finished fast in center of track. SINGLE HOPE, fractious at the gate, was taken outside stalls, rushed into early lead, only to tire under weight. CHLOEDAIR showed early speed and quit to walk last half.

FOURTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $500; claiming. The Marlboro Hotel. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at $3.59. Off at 4:01. Winner, W. H. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BUBOLA, $7.70, $3.80, $2.50; BRIGHT BIRD, $2.90, $2.60; FERVID, $2.80.

BUBOLA broke fourth and after being allowed to settle into her stride gradually picked up the leaders to win going away. BRIGHT BIRD was a very early pace and had nothing left at the end. FERVID, used up forcing the early pace, was next best. TARNISH broke tardily and closed an immense gap last half.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. The Brandywine. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:34. Off at 4:34. Winner, C. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GAY WIDOWER, $7.00, $4.40, $3.70; GUNTHER, $7.80, $7.70; JEALOUS FOOL, $7.80.

GAY WIDOWER, under wraps and within striking distance of the pace for the first half, moved up fast on the outside and, saving ground at every turn, just lasted to win. GUNTHER broke slowly, was allowed to settle into his stride and under a perfect ride closed fastest of all only 10 miles at the wire. JEALOUS FOOL ran an even race and had no excuses. MINA F. and CONTRACTOR raced themselves into defeat first three-quarters and then retired.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. The Chesapeake Beach. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:07. Off at 5:08. Winner, J. F. Stocks Are Jostled Lower As Reaction Halts Advance

Market Closes Fraction Off in Lighter Sale of 2,999,150 Shares.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The stock market wound up a month of brilliantly advancing prices with a distinctly tired appearance today.

The list turned emphatically weak for a time, but in the morning, and again in the afternoon, a tonic was provided by bidding up the rails. The market closed irregularly lower, however, with most changes limited to fractions.

Further reactionary tendencies in cotton and wheat tended to accentuate the unsettlement in shares.

Selling was particularly active in the share market in the middle of the day, but the list turned quieter later on, and the day's turnover of 2,999,150 shares was the smallest of the week. The price average of 90 representative issues showed a net loss of 6-10 of a point, against a drop of a full point yesterday.

Rather sharp advances in some of the more thinly traded Eastern railroad issues aroused fresh conjecture as to the progress of consolidation. Lackawanna made an extreme gain of more than 7 points, which indicated that a short interest had been trapped. Among other thinly traded issues, Atlantic Coast Line gained as much as 4, and Louisville & Nashville nearly 3. New York Central closed a point higher, in active trading, and Union Pacific, off more than 2 at one time, closed up a fraction. Another strong spot was United Aircraft, up about 2 points. American Can recovered to close 1½ higher, and American Telephone, up ¾.

U. S. Steel was off about a point at the finish, and the preferred, 2½. Coca Cola dropped 4, and closed off 3, net. Among issues finishing a point or so lower were Allied Chemical, International Harvester, North American, National Distillers and Sears Roebuck.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Wed.	Tues.
Number of advances	167	311
Number of declines	439	343
Stocks unchanged	147	149
Total issues traded	753	803

Stocks.

Month of advances closed with fractional setback. Trading showed signs of weariness. The average loss was 6-10 of a point. Day's turnover dropped to 2,999,150 shares.

Bonds.

Prices reacted as speculative rails lost vitality. The decline was 4-10 of a point in a slightly heavier sale of $11,035,000.

Curb.

Reactions continued despite a brisk recovery from the lowest prices. The market closed down in a trading volume of 560,000 shares.

Wheat.

Liquidation pushed wheat prices lower. Influences of other reacting markets were blamed. Corn and oats lost.

Cotton.

Violent changes sent cotton 29 to 33 points down. December slumped from 9.04 to 8.50.

BOND PRICES REACT AS RAILS LOSE LEAD

Decline Is Four-Tenths in $11,035,000 Sale; U. S. Issues Easier.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Despite a fair last-minute rally, the bond market today drifted irregularly lower, with the speculative rails generally displaying a lack of vitality.

The trading was slightly more active than in the previous session, sales totaling $11,035,000. The average for 60 corporate securities was fourtenths of a point lower.

While earnings reports of the transportation group for the first seven months of this year were 57.8 per cent under those of the same period in 1931, there were indications that August would show considerable improvement. The St. Louis-San Francisco road announced it had arranged to meet its interest payments due tomorrow and the Nickel Plate was considering a plan to provide for its heavy maturity on October 1.

Baltimore & Ohio 4½s of 1960 were heavily traded for a loss of 3 points; Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s, after early weakness, emerged with a fractional gain and St. Paul 5s managed to hold their recession in one-half a point.

The United States Government section was moderately easier. Foreign obligations were irregular. The Australians rallied, as did some of the Japanese and Norwegians.

Electric Power Gain Sets Record for Last of August

New York, Aug. 31 A.P.).—A slight gain in electric power production for the week ended August 27—the first time a gain has been recorded in that week since 1929—was reported today by the National Electric Light Association.

Total kilowatt hours produced during the week were 1,436,440,000, against 1,431,910,000 in the preceding week. The decline from the like week of last year was 12.3 per cent, against 12.9 in the previous week. The gain over the previous week was somewhat smaller than in 1929, but the like week of both 1930 and 1931 showed slight declines.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON—Gilt-edged securities forged ahead on the stock exchange due to the conversion scheme. Unfavorable Wall street and Paris news and profit taking caused a moderate setback in other sections. The closing was easy.

PARIS — Month-end liquidation and Wall street news caused irregularity on the bourse. Offers were plentiful at the opening but were counter-balanced by a slight forward movement in several issues. The closing was undecided.

BERLIN—Trading was somewhat hesitant on the boerse due to parliamentary uncertainties but private buying later caused a spurt in prices, the closing being firm.

CURB MARKET SAGS, DESPITE BRISK RISE

Leading Issues Sell Off Moderately in Trading of 560,000 Shares.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The curb market today ended the month with a continuation of the reaction which swept over the list yesterday, but prices had a fairly brisk recovery from the day's lowest prices.

Net changes for the day were irregularly lower, but prices of most leading issues confined their losses to narrow limits and most of them recovered one-half or more of the maximum ground lost earlier in the day. Sales totaled 560,000 shares, or about 140,000 less than yesterday.

Electric Bond & Share had a vigorous comeback after declining at one time to 36¼. It closed at 39½, off ½, net.

The utilities as a group improved after publication of weekly electricity production figures, which showed a slight increase, the first to be recorded for the week since 1929.

Oil stocks continued to sag, due to some misgivings over the easier tone of gasoline prices. Humble broke 8 points.

In the industrials, Aluminum Co., Deare, Newmont and Pitney Bowes lost slightly, while A. O. Smith gained 2¼ points.

U. S. Bondholders to Get $280,000,000 Interest

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—While there are some shaded spots on both the domestic and foreign bond pictures, holders of senior securities in the United States are expecting interest payments tomorrow, or some time during next month, of approximately $280,000,000.

In some instances, notably South American, bond holders will do no coupon clipping and will have to wait for readjustments, reorganizations and compromise settlements, or until the debtors are able to raise the funds with which to meet the defaulted charges.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for August 29 were $5,357,492.16; expenditures, $9,007,108.98; balance, $347,316,043.13. Customs duties for 29 days of August were $22,764,300.22.

WHEAT VALUES DROP ON SHIFT OF DEALING

Other Markets Also Aid Reaction; Corn and Oats Join Decline.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Persistent liquidation smashed all grain prices sharply lower today, but last minute rallies brought some recovery. Weakness of stocks and cotton was the initial disturbing influence and the trade received no stimulus from the general crop news. The chief weakening factor was switching of position by traders. Selling of the September delivery of wheat and corn by brokers unwilling to accept delivery on contracts tomorrow was heavy, and the resulting decline found many stop loss orders forced into execution. Buying of deferred months checked the decline. Oats and provisions eased with other grains.

Wheat closed weak and ⅝ to 1⅝ cents lower than yesterday's finish, despite a rally at the close; corn, ⅜ to 1⅞ off; oats, steady to ⅜ down, and provisions showing a drop of 5 to 15 cents.

The wheat market received a fair support from commission houses after the extreme decline of around 2 cents a bushel, much of it coming from traders reinstating lines in December and May wheat after unloading their September holdings.

Liverpool wheat closed firm after a somewhat weak start. Winnipeg eased after a firm start, largely because of rains in western Canada and because of weakness in Chicago.

North American clearances of wheat and flour last week, according to Bradstreet's, were 4,863,000 bushels.

Oats were easier with other grains. The country movement of this cereal was diminishing and offerings were lighter.

Provisions eased with grains, stocks and commodities.

BUSINESS MACHINES INSTALLED IN CHINA

Tabulating and Accounting Equipment Is Set Up for College in Peiping.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

International Business Machines Corporation has just completed installation of electric tabulating and accounting equipment at the Peiping Union Medical College at Peiping (Pekin), China, it was officially announced yesterday. The installation was made through Teijiro Kurosawa, Japanese representatives of the company at Tokyo.

International Business Machines Corporation equipment is also being used in a survey of newspaper reader interest and grocery trade consumer demand in Cleveland, conducted by a Cleveland newspaper and the Cleveland Parent-Teacher Association, it was stated.

A total of 5,452 questionnaires, representing inventories of pantries and refrigerators in that many homes, were turned in by school children. Thus far, 165 different sets of data have been tabulated, and there are at least that many more different tabulations available, which will be tabulated as required from the punched cards on which the original information is permanently recorded. The findings will eventually be published in book form by the sponsor of the survey.

Local bank clearings for August were $88,830,619.60, as compared with $89,484,710.06 in August of last year. For the eight months of 1932 they total $664,353,854.70, as contrasted with $840,165,975.17 for the comparative period a year ago.

Public Utility Inspector Of Gas Meters Retires

Elmer G. Runyon, inspector of gas and meters for the Public Utilities Commission for almost 30 years, retired yesterday because of the provision of the economy act eliminating employes who have reached the age of 70. President Hoover had refused a request for an extension of time for the veteran employe, who actually predated the commission by seventeen years.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, presented a traveling bag to Mr. Runyon on behalf of the commission staff.

WALKER CUP GOLF PLAY TODAY

British Given Best Chance in Years to Beat U. S.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The seventh renewal of the Walker Cup golf matches will open at the country club tomorrow with the British throwing against the Americans their best-balanced team since the biennial play was started ten years ago.

The past six international matches have been won by the American team, four of them by topheavy margins. This year, however, the Britons appear to have their best chance for victory.

The opening play will be waged by four sets of foursomes over the 36-hole route. Capt. Tony Torrance, announced this British line-up as follows:

One, Rex and Lister Hartley; 2, Torrance and John De Forest, present amateur champion of Great Britain; 3, John A Stout and John Burke, Irish titlist; 4, Eric McRuvie, the Scottish star, and Eric Fiddian, runner-up in the last British Isles championship play. Only three of this eight, Torrance, Rex Hartley and Stout, played in the last team matches at Sandwich, England, in 1930.

Francis Ouimet, national amateur champion and leader of the American team, put the veteran combination of Jess Sweetser and George Voigt at the head of his foursome list. The second pair, which will engage Torrance and De Forest, were Gus Moreland, sensational Texas youngster who recently won the Western championship, and Charlie Seaver.

Investigation Swamps Federal Unionists, 14-1

Investigation won an easy 14-1 victory over Federal Unionist in the inaugural game of their series for the second half honors of the Departmental League yesterday.

A pair of home runs by Eddie Colliflower, with men on base in each instance, featured the Sleuths' attack. Les Singman also hit for the circuit to aid in the rout of the Federals.

OVERTIME MATCHES FEATURE PRO GOLF

the Hagen-Golden fight. Not once were they separated by more than one hole as they fought on, alternating the lead four times with perfect golf.

Two more extra-hole matches were fought, won and lost as the overtime fever caught onto the field. Reggie Myles, tiny Scot from Ashland, Ohio, supplied the first by traveling 37 holes to upset Horton Smith, while Vincent Eldred, of Pittsburgh, staggered Runyan with a victory on the thirty-eighth.

Myles won his match and the cheers of the gallery by banging a pretty shot from the rough four feet from the pin for a birdie three; Eldred won his with a regulation par as Runyan flirted with the rough.

Until the orgy of overtime matches spread like wildfire, Olin Dutra, tournament medalist from Santa Monica, Calif., had provided the fireworks with a 9 and 8 rout of George Smith, Chicago.

An even greater golfer than he was yesterday when he scored 71—69—140 for the medal, Dutra reeled off a 66, 6 under par, in the morning to get an 8-hole lead and then with par golf in the afternoon to freeze out his rival. On his jaunt, Dutra was so deadly with his approach shots that he needed but 48 putts for the necessary 28 holes.

SANDLOT DUST

SCORING all of their runs in the first inning, the Occoquan All-Stars yesterday defeated the D. C. Police Department nine by a score of 5-3. Frank Watt hurled for the coppers and after a shaky start was invincible. Hoffman, who twirled for the eventual winners, pitched a steady game and held his opponents well in check.

Today the Police stack up against G. P. O. on the East Ellipse at 5 o'clock. Colliflower and Gill are especially requested to report. Dick Weatherall is endeavoring to arrange a Labor Day game for the team. He can be reached at No. 9 Precinct during the day or at Lincoln 3089 after 4:30 p. m.

The Georgetown A. C. wants a game for Sunday. Bernie Buscher is handling the schedule at West 0095.

An important meeting of the Columbia Heights team, Capital City League champion, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at 1434 Monroe street northwest. The pilot of the Dayton, Md., team is requested to call Manager Charley Edwards at Georgia 3751-J.

The Phoenix A. C. will meet the Burroughs A. C. Saturday at 3 p. m., and the Virginia White Sox, Sunday at the same hour, both games to be played on their opponents' diamonds. Phoenix wants a game for Labor Day. Call Manager Norris at Atlantic 5013-W.

The Rock Creek Servicenter nine wants a game for Sunday with a leading unlimited team. Call Snitz Nau at Potomac 6134.

JR. GOLFERS SEEK TITLE TODAY

Dettweiler and Nee Among Choices to Cop Crown.

STARTING this morning at 9 o'clock, some 20 junior golfers will stroke their way around the rolling terrain of the Army and Navy Country Club course in quest of the District junior championship.

Thirty-six holes are on tap, with the second lap of the journey scheduled to start shortly after noon. A new champion will be crowned, as Roger Peacock, crack Indian Spring player, who recently qualified for the national amateur tournament, will not be present to defend his laurels. A new ruling, which permits only youngsters under 18 years of age to compete, removes the champion from the battle.

Outstanding in the field is Billy Dettweiler, of Manor Club, lanky 14-year-old golfer, who astounded District players by his spectacular performance in the sectional trials at Chevy Chase. His brother, Jack, 11, also is an entrant.

Another top heavy favorite in today's event is Maurice Nee, 17, Dettweiler's companion from Manor, who finished twelfth in the sectional event here.

Billy Shannon, of Columbia; Leonard Thrasher and Harry Child, of Army and Navy; Bob and James Brownell, of Indian Spring, and Dick Wilmer, of Chevy Chase, are youngsters of ability entered.

Post entries, it was announced by Dr. W. C. Barr, secretary, will be accepted at the first tee.

Risko and Levinsky Set For Fight Tonight

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THROWN by fate into a band of Breton privateers in the Mediterranean, Capt. John Smith, who later became America's great colonizer and first statesman, once sailed the seas as a corsair engaging in what was then legalized piracy. Though it was not by his choice that he joined the then popular profession, he shared in the plunder from merchantmen and with his part of the spoils toured Italy. Privateers, commissioned by their governments, looted merchant ships and committed robberies on the high seas. Their acts amounted to piracy, and to all but his own nation the corsair was a pirate.

Smith was thrown overboard in the Mediterranean by religious fanatics who believed him responsible for the storm that threatened the boat on which they were traveling. He swam to a barren island and was rescued by a passing Breton privateer. He became one of the crew.

The most accurate clocks in the world are never right. They are the timepieces of the United States Naval Observatory in Washington, D. C., by which the famous Arlington time signals are timed. The clocks, experts have found, are off a few hundredths of a second, but it is easier to correct the mistakes by mathematics than by resetting the clocks.

WATER'S BAD TASTE LAID TO CONVERGING

Meeting of Two Currents at Montgomery Hills Blamed by Officials.

Washington and Maryland water officials agreed yesterday that the bad odor and taste of water complained of by residents of Montgomery Hills, Md., was due to the convergence of two currents of water at that point. The Montgomery County water from Burnt Mills, and the water turned in from the District mains meet at about this point and the resultant disturbance of the current probably results in the washing loose of sediment in the pipes not disturbed by the usual flow, engineers agreed.

Washington water officials were indignant yesterday that the quality of Washington water had been impugned. They pointed out that the Washington water system is one of the leading systems of the world and that even foreign countries have sent agents to this city to study the methods used. The local water is guarded constantly by automatic machines which check the chemical content and bacteriological tests are made frequently to maintain a sterile condition. All reservoirs which contain water that has been filtered are covered and no drinking water is uncovered from the filter to the home, according to C. J. Lauter, chief chemist of the Dalecarlia plant, which is operated under the United States Engineers Office, and which supplies most of the water to Washington.

Theory Advanced by Lauter.

Mr. Lauter advanced the theory as to the cause of the bad taste and odor in the water. He said the local plant does not use as much chlorine in the water as the plant of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission because the District is not compelled to follow Maryland standards, which are based on the needs of the whole State and are not actually necessary for the suburban plant because of the control maintained on the purity of the water there.

The only advantage Maryland water has over the District is that it is much softer, but this is a commercial advantage and has no bearing on the purity of the water itself. Washington water comes from the Potomac River, which flows through limestrone rock, while the Maryland water comes from a river that flows through open hills and this is the cause of the difference in the softness of the water, Mr. Lauter said.

Supervised Carefully.

Both the suburban and the Washington plant are supervised carefully and it is almost impossible for infection to get through the plants, he said. Incidentally, the Washington plant created a new record for itself Tuesday when 118,000,000 gallons of water were pumped through the station.

Montgomery County yesterday exceeded the amount of Washington Water used Tuesday when about two-thirds of the water used in the county was from Washington, according to Chief Engineer Robert Morse, of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. This was due to the hot weather. The Georgia avenue connection was turned on yesterday, he said, and this will increase the amount brought into the county. Mr. Morse is conducting an investigation of the complaints from the Montgomery Hills section. He said he also believes the complaints were the result of the disturbance of sediment through change in the flow of water in the mains.

Meeting Will Plan Labor Day Parade

Committee Will Meet at Board of Trade Today to Finish Work.

Final plans for the Firemen's and Policemen's parade here Labor Day, will be discussed at a meeting of the parade committee at the office of the Washington Board of Trade at 4:30 o'clock today.

Several thousand dollars are being spent during this week in building the elaborate Bicentennial floats. More than 100 floats are expected to compete for prizes.

Alleged Accomplice Of Easterday Seized

Arrested here yesterday and held for removal to New York City, David W. Sullivan, 45 years old, waived his right to a United States Commissioner's hearing and was released on $2,000 bond pending his removal to New York.

Sullivan was indicted in New York in 1931 for alleged use of the mails to defraud. He is said to have jumped bond and first word of his whereabouts was gained when he was arrested here. Wilen W. Easterday and Nicky Arnstein, indicted with Sullivan, served terms in Leavenworth in 1924 for violations of the postal laws.

Frigidaire Sales Shown Increasing

E. B. Dorsee Is Honored at Banquet; Out-of-Town Officials Present.

Increase in sales of the Washington and Baltimore units of the Frigidaire Sales Corporation were revealed last night in a banquet at Wardman Park Hotel, when more than 300 Frigidaire salesmen, dealers, company officials and guests gathered to honor E. B. Dorsee, zone manager.

Officiating as toastmaster, Mr. Dorsee introduced officials from other cities, including representatives from South American countries. He quoted figures indicating greater sales of home refrigeration during the first eight months of 1932 as compared with the same period of a year ago, and announced a new and lower schedule of prices, calculated to increase further the lead during the current year.

Strickland Gillilan, humorist and newspaper columnist, gave a description of his recent travels abroad, and George Barrows, of The Washington Post, represented assembled Baltimore and Washington newspapermen in an analysis of current business trends. Dancing followed the dinner and a musical entertainment.

Washington's Late Afternoon Downtown Traffic Jams Will Be Given Special Study This Month

Traffic conditions such as pictured above will be given special attention when the city joins in the observance of National Traffic Enforcement Month, sponsored by the National Safety Council. A special week has been set aside for an extensive drive by local police on strict enforcement of traffic regulations. The upper left photo shows a portion of the daily vehicular traffic that passes Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. On the upper left is shown the congested area on Fifteenth street, looking south from G street northwest. A traffic jam at Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest is pictured at the bottom.

National Safety Council to Meet Here From October 4 to 7.

Police Department Will Demonstrate Rescue Squad Work.

fic jams that beset Washingtonians on their way homeward from places of employment will be given special study this month as the city joins with 51 other cities of the country in observances of national traffic law enforcement month.

Though no special drive on traffic enforcement is contemplated, according to Inspector Ernest W. Brown, every effort is to be made to secure permanent arrangement to permit an easy flow of the traffic, which seems to stagnate in the downtown sections, when the thousands of Government workers swarm from their offices each afternoon.

Unlike other cities, the employment centers of which are spread over wide areas, and which discharge their employes at various hours, the Capital presents a peculiar traffic problem in that the great bulk of its workers leave their desks at practically the same hour—4:30 in the afternoon.

In its observance of the National Traffic Enforcement Month, the Capital is joining with cities totaling 14,000,000 in population, and it is cooperating with the National Safety Council, which is sponsoring the movement.

The campaign for better enforcement of traffic rules is preliminary to the twenty-first annual cnovention of the council, which will be held in the Wardman Park Hotel, from October 4 to October 7.

Inspector Brown and Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford are planning a show for the delegates who are expected to attend. A feature of the show will be a "real accident," in which two automobiles will purposely collide.

Washington's method of handling such accidents will be demonstrated. A radio traffic cruiser will arrive to take pictures of the accident, investigate the causes and make a report. A demonstration of first aid work will be given by the Fire Rescue Squad, which will be called to the "accident" scene.

Though no special drive is scheduled for the observance of the traffic enforcement month, Inspector Brown said, a conservative enforcement of the regulations would be used in an attempt to establish a creditable enforcement record for the Capital.

The Police Department's new emergency squad, formed to combat riotous disturbances, will reenact the events which took place when a maniac carpenter held police at bay in the southeast section, during which a policeman was killed.

2 Children Injured When Hit by Autos

Girls, 7 and 4, Victims; Condition of One Is Serious.

Two children were seriously injured yesterday afternoon as the result of two accidents at Fourteenth place and C street northeast. Police said that in both cases the children ran from behind parked cars into the path of the moving machines.

Helen Phillips, 7 years old, of 1357 C street southeast, suffered possible fractures of several ribs and severe lacerations when she ran into the path of a car operated by Albert Smith, of 209 Fourteenth place northeast. Smith took the child to Casualty Hospital, where her condition was said to be serious. She was later removed to her home for further treatment.

Jaunita Morningstar, 4 years old, of 330 Fourteenth place northeast, received a possible concussion of the brain and numerous lacerations when she ran into the side of a car driven by Edward Calhoun, of the Army War College. She was also taken to Casualty and later sent home.

Lower Theatrical Pay Scale Sought

Projectionists Already in Cuts as Other Unions Negotiate.

With only the projectionists in agreement with theater interests as to wage scales for the coming year, the rates agreed to by all the theatrical trades, including stage hands, musicians and electricians, expired at local amusement houses last night. Theater and union officials, however, expressed hope for an early agreement.

The projectionists have accepted cuts ranging from 5 to 15 per cent and their agreement will run two years beginning today. Stage hands have come to terms with the legitimate houses here, the National and the Belasco, for another year, but are still negotiating with the Warner Bros. and Loew's, who present stage attractions.

Musicians have been asked to take considerable cuts, it is known, but are loath to accept the slashes asked. They are also fighting any reductions in personnel, it is learned, as are the stage hands. Union officials last night predicted an early agreement by all concerned. Meanwhile, wages will go on at the rate prevailing during the last year with some retroactive adjustment in prospect.

Woodlawn Players to Give Comedy.

The Woodlawn Players, under direction of Mrs. D. J. Garber, will present a three-act comedy, "The Third Floor Front," in the Woodlawn Community House near Fort Humphreys, Va., at 8 p. m. today. The cast includes Mrs. Margaret Cox, Herbert Walker, Mrs. Christine Buckman, Horace Buckman, Miss Mary W. Cox, Ross Walker, Mrs. Frances T. Walker, Miss Hannah Cox, Robert Walker, Mrs. Ethel Smith and Miss Lucy Buckman.

Housewife's Good Nature Exhausted by Fake Calls

For two days life to Mrs. Elizabeth Wright had been one knock at the door after another. Yesterday was the climax. She collpased when confronted by a burly policeman on the front porch of her home, 56 Pierce street northwest.

"I've come for the pocketbook, lady," the policeman declared.

Mrs. Wright stared in amazement, invited the officer in and with a note of reluctance in her voice asked:

"What pocketbook?"

The policeman went on to explain that someone had called the precinct station to report that a pocketbook, lost some time ago, had been recovered by Mrs. Wright. He had been asked, the policeman said, to call on Mrs. Wright and claim it.

"This is all a horrible mistake," gasped Mrs. Wright, slumping into a chair. "I've had about all I can stand."

It was the policeman's turn to stand open-mouthed. He waited a moment for the woman to gather her wits, then asked an explanation.

"It's been going on for two days," Mrs. Wright stammered. The policeman sat down and the following story was unfolded:

All was quiet in the Wright home early Tuesday. The screech of a siren suddenly resounded throughout the neighborhood. Emergency Hospital ambulance drew up before her door.

A white-coated interne rushed to the door and demanded to know in which room "the dead man was." He was told that nothing was wrong there.

Hardly had he departed, Mrs. Wright related, than an ambulance from Casualty Hospital arrived on a similar call. The doctor also left when informed he was not needed. As he drew away the Freedmen's Hospital ambulance arrived with much screeching of brakes. It, too, left after finding nothing.

An hour or so went by, Mrs. Wright declared, when, responding to a knock at the door, she found a white-capped man who presented her with a gallon of ice cream. Informed it was not hers, the man begrudgingly retraced his steps to a waiting truck.

Her good nature rapidly diminishing, Mrs. Wright declared things began to happen in earnest. One after the other, her visitors included:

A man with a load of furniture, a delivery boy with four chicken dinners from a downtown restaurant, and a second-hand dealer to "buy the piano." None of these were summoned from the Wright home, she declared.

After listening to her story the policeman decided to investigate. Across the street in a vacant house he discovered a telephone, connected for operation.

A number of small boys in the neighborhood will be watched from now on.

Auto Repair Shop Operator Is Killed by Car in Alley

Sidewiped by an automobile and thrown several feet from where he was standing at the rear of his repair shop at 1128 Twentieth street northwest, Murray G. Harrison, 53 years old, yesterday suffered injuries that cost his life a few hours later.

Standing in an alley near the rear door of an automobile repair shop he operates, Harrison was trapped in the path of an oncoming machine and was struck before he had a chance to leap to safety.

Witnesses declared the car, driven by James E. Sullivan, colored, 27 years old, of 3338 Sherman avenue northwest, suddenly swerved toward Harrison before he had time to jump from its path. He was struck as the machine sped past and hurled several feet.

At Emergency Hospital, where the injured man was taken, it was found he suffered severe internal injuries. He died less than four hours after being admitted.

Sullivan was arrested and held for action of the coroner. He was unable to explain what caused the machine to swerve toward Harrison.

Harrison had been proprietor of the small garage for a number of years. He lived at 2012 Mohroe street northeast.

Seeping Gas Overcomes Man, Found in Bathroom

Gas seeping through a bad connection in a heater in the bathroom overcame John Jackson, 56, of 726 Seventh street southwest, who was discovered lying on the floor of the room in an unconscious condition yesterday.

Members of the Fire Rescue Squad revived Jackson after about 20 minutes. He was taken to Casualty Hospital, where his condition is said not to be serious.

Chain Grocery Manager Robbed at Pistol Point

Two men entered a chain grocery at 1101 C street northeast yesterday and robbed the manager at the point of a pistol of $20, escaping in a waiting car driven by a confederate.

Marvin C. Deen, 1322 Orren street northeast, manager of the store, reported to police that the bandits entered the store and while one of the group engaged him in conversation the other threatened him with a gun.

100 Needy Families Receive Free Food

Policemen's and Firemen's V. F. W. Post Is Agent for Relief.

Singled out by policemen on their beats, 100 needy families yesterday received visits from members of the Policemen's and Firemen's Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who distributed baskets of supplies.

Headed by J. E Bennett, attached to Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford's staff, the post members worked all day yesterday handing out the hampers. Flour, coffee, salmon, canned beans and crackers were contained in each basket and were paid for by the veterans' post relief fund.

Bennett appealed yesterday to Washingtonians to support the first annual policemen's and firemen's ball Labor Day night in the Washington Auditorium. He said funds accruing above expenses from the event will be devoted to additional help for needy families. A well-known orchestra and trio will provide music. Capt. W. G. Stott, of the police department, and Capt. Christopher Bartholomis are in charge of seeking out needy families to be aided.

Young Man Is Arrested On Transporting Charge

James B. Johnson, 23 years old, of 3312 Nineteenth street northwest, was arrested as he drove his automobile near Georgia avenue and Harvard street northwest yesterday afternoon and charged with transportation and illegal possession of 7½ gallons of alleged liquor.

Johnson allegedly failed to produce a registration card for his machine. He was released after posting bond.

Nearly 10,000 Driving On Expired Car Permits

Director of Traffic William A. Van Duzer announced yesterday that nearly 10,000 Washington motorists are driving on expired operators permits in violation of the law.

Police have been instructed to make a careful examination of traffic violators' permits in order to round up those driving on "dead permits."

Washington Man Jailed After Crash in Virginia

Nelson F. Heflin, of 765 Twentieth street northeast, was fined $200 and costs on two charges in Fairfax County Trial Justice Court yesterday. He was also given a sentence of six months in jail, to be suspended during good behavior.

The charges of driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and leaving the scene of an accident without making his identity known grew out of a collision between the Heflin car and another driven by W. I. Tolson, of 403 Columbia road northwest, Washington. The accident occurred on the Lee-Jackson highway about two miles south of Fairfax, Va., early yesterday morning. Heflin was badly cut about the head and arms and his car demolished.

VOLUNTEERS' PROBE DENIED BY COLLINS

Says Office Not Investigating Charges of Misuse of Charity Funds.

A flat and emphatic denial was issued yesterday by Acting United States Attorney William H. Collins when newspapermen questioned him concerning published reports that his office was investigating the activities of the Volunteers of America.

Mr. Collins, acting in the absence of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, who has been on vacation for three days, said that nothing of any nature concerning the Volunteers had been brought to his attention.

This was contradictory to a printed report that Inspector Ogden T. Davis, head of the police crime prevention bureau, had submitted to the United States attorney comprehensive charges which alleged that only 20 per cent of the funds collected by the organization is used in its charitable work.

"Would you have any knowledge of any such action if it had been brought to your attention?" Collins was asked.

"I certainly would, he replied, "and I would not hesitate to say that it had if it had been brought here."

Inspector Davis said that his investigation was begun after numerous reports that collectors for the Volunteers were misappropriating money which they collected to "buy milk for babies."

He said that the probe was started without any pressure from outside sources and that the bureau would continue to investigate and would prosecute any persons implicated in the alleged misappropriations.

Staff Capt. Arthur E. Wise, regional commander of the Volunteers, said that he was convinced the investigation was "inspired."

It was learned that the police complaints came from former solicitors of funds employed by the organization. Capt. Wise said that these men had all been discharged and were disgruntled.

Baby Found in Car Placed in Hospital

Given Name of John Murphy for Physician and Policeman.

Abandoned in the rear seat of a parked auto, a six-week-old baby who was given the name of John Murphy at Children's Hospital, is placidly viewing his new surroundings from a downy crib after being abandoned, discovered and almost adopted in the short space of a few hours yesterday.

The baby was found by Jack Wood, 10, of 83 W street, who notified his mother, Mrs. Catherine Wood. The automobile in which the baby was found abandoned belongs to H. F. Melick. Mrs. E. A. McMahon, Mr. Melick's sister, offered to adopt the baby if it was a girl.

Taken to Children's Hospital, the baby was given the name of John after the doctor who examined it, and Murphy after a policeman who took it to the hospital.

Death of Navy Yard Worker Accidental

The death of Clayton Ethridge, 58, of 1600 A street southeast, who was fatally injured Monday when a ratchet from a wheel struck him and he fell, fracturing his skull, was held to be accidental in a coroner's jury verdict yesterday.

Ethridge was working at the navy yard when the accident happened. He was taken to Providence Hospital and died soon after arriving there.

Man Yearning For Ice House Flees on Call

There are many ways of finding relief from hot weather, but one of the best places known is the inside of an ice house.

Apparently that was what was in the mind of a man late yesterday, when he wandered back and forth for several minutes in front of an ice house at Thirteenth and Upshur streets northwest. If he was waiting for an invitation to come in, he was greatly disappointed.

In fact, he didn't even get on the front porch. Some one in the neighborhood decided that if there was any relief to be obtained it was going to be his.

Consequently, police received the call of a suspicious man roving about near the ice house. He was gone when police cars reached the scene.

PLAYGROUND NIGHT DRAWS HUNDREDS

Closing Summer Festival at Sylvan Theater Presented by Children.

Several thousand persons last night enthusiastically received "Playground Night," the closing summer festival at the Sylvan Theater. An interesting program of folk dances and pantomines by children of the District's playgrounds was interspersed with music by the Army Band.

One hundred children participated in the program. Their costumes were designed and executed by the playground staff. The dances and pantomines were under the direction of Miss Maude Parker, who has charge of the girls' activities in the playground department.

Especially well received were "Oriental Pantomime" and a march and dance sketch skit, "The Wooden Soldiers and the Painted Dolls." The program was in charge of Miss Sybil Baker, director of playgrounds.

The summer festivals of which last night's program was the last of the season have been extraordinarily successful this year. They have been presented by the Community Center Department and the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, assisted by the Capital Civic Fund.

Bureau of Printing Foreman Retires

Albert G. Santy Is Given Purse of $100 by Employes.

After 33 years of service in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Albert G. Santy yesterday retired as foreman of machinists at the age of 63. He plans to continue to live at his present home at 617 Raleigh place southeast after a short trip to Florida.

Friends and fellow workers in the machine division of the bureau presented him with a billfold and $100 at a reception held in his honor yesterday at the bureau. Posey V. Hall made the presentation, and also gave a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Santy.

Thirty-three years ago Mr. Santy was appointed a machinist in the bureau, and in 1926 he was appointed foreman. He retired voluntarily. Mr. Santy is a native of Brookfield, Mass., and a Mason, being a member of Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 14. He is also a member of Columbia Lodge of Machinists, No. 174.

Eckington Center Closes Its Season

Final Ceremonies Are Held With Fashion Show and Playlets.

The closing ceremonies for the summer schedule at Eckington Recreation Center were held last night in Langley Junior High School Auditorium, with Will P. Kennedy, president of the North Capital Citizens Association, presiding. Brief talks were made by Mr. Kennedy, and Mrs. E. K. Peeples, director of the Community Center Department, which, with the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, and the District of Columbia Playground Department, are engaged in this coordinated recreational work at Eckington Center.

A large audience attended. The program included the presentation of a fashion show, directed by Miss Mary G. Whiteman and two short plays, one a theatrical satire, and the other a social satire by the newly organized Eckington Drama Group, directed by Mrs. Aurora M. Poston and Frank E. Jamison.

Those taking part in the fashion show were Ann King, Madeline Notter, Evelyn Fitzgerald, Ruth Hartung, Betty Middleton, Lilas Craig, Lucille Harris and Mrs. Emily Bach. Those taking part in the two plays were Frances Parker, Elizabeth Middleton, Mildred Farrah, Miles Magargal, Vernon Lyden, William Davis and Frank E. Jamison.

MAN DIVES TO DEATH FROM BOAT IN RIVER

Outing on Potomac Is Halted Tragically as Winchester Resident Drowns.

A boating expedition to escape Washington's intense heat resulted fatally yesterday for Donald F. Frinnfrock, of Winchester, Va., who dived to his death from the motor boat Matoaka, anchored in the Potomac River, off the mouth of Broad Creek, 8 miles below Washington.

Frinnfrock and Roy W. Richards, also of Winchester, dived from the boat together yesterday morning. Richards, owner and pilot of the boat, came to the surface at once, but Frinnfrock was not seen again. Harbor police and Prince Georges County officers dragged the vicinity for five hours, but were unable to find the body.

The 40-foot boat, with its passenger list of five, left the Washington channel yesterday morning for an all-day outing on the river. Shortly after 10 o'clock it anchored in about 13 feet of water, according to Richards. He and Frinnfrock prepared at once to go twimming, and dived from the deck. When Frinnfrock did not break the surface, others in the group attempted to locate him. Their efforts were unavailing and police were notified.

In addition Richards and Frinnfrock, the passengers included Mrs. Richards and Nelson F. Richards, brother of the pilot, both of Winchester, and Alfred W. Water and T. M. Robertson, both of Chicago. The party had come to Washington Monday and had lived aboard the boat since that time. Last night they returned to Washington to await further efforts to locate the body, which will probably be made today.

When Washington police learned of the tragedy yesterday, they notified Maryland authorities, as that State's jurisdiction extends to the Virginia shore of the river. Sergt. A. W. Hepburn and Officer G. William Gray, of the Prince Georges County police, came to Washington and directed the dragging operations by the police boat.

Boy, 5, Is Hit by Auto; Is Treated at Hospital

Five-year-old Jimmie Thompson was treated at Providence Hospital for severe lacerations to his head and body which he suffered when an automobile said to have been operated by Charles Stevens, of Poolesville, Md., struck him yesterday while he was crossing the street near his home at 320 C street southeast.

The driver of the car told police that the boy suddenly darted in front of his vehicle from behind parked autos. The child was later allowed to go home.
